Tactics Change In Smut War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office has abandoned censorship as a weapon in the war against smut and is training its guns only on dealers who mail pornography to people who complain.

Main goal of this new strategy, says Chief Postal Inspector Harry B. Montague, is to keep advertisements for smut out of the hands of children and young people.

Montague indicates the heat is off consenting individuals who use the mails to exchange obscene photographs and reading matter.

Montague said in an interview that since 1957, the courts and the Justice Department have hindered the Post Office in its fight against pornography, and battle lines had to be redrawn.

Montague, chief inspector since 1961, now largely relies on individual protests from the public.

He and the 1,080 "Post Office policemen" across the nation have been helped by a six-month old federal antipandering law.

Acting under this statute, the Post Office has received since April nearly 75,000 complaints about material which recipients said they'd received through the mails and which was "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

Ohio Crops To Be Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U. S. Department of Agriculture crop forecasts indicate Ohio farmers will have a record crop this year.

Total crop production for the nation, the department said, is estimated to be 3 per cent above the 1966 previous record and 8 per cent above 1967.

Ohio corn production is expected to total 254 million bushels, down 1 per cent from 1967 but 13 per cent above average.

Yield per acre is estimated at 88 bushels, up nine bushels from last year and four bushels above the 1966 record yield.

Soybean production for Ohio is estimated at a record 66 million bushels with a yield per acre of 29 bushels.

Wheat and oat crop estimates of 46.6 and 45.8 million bushels respectively are unchanged from the September estimate.

Ohio hay registered 3.5 million tons, up 18 per cent over last year and 1 per cent above the average. Sugar beet production is estimated at 700,000 tons, and all major fruit crops have increased.

Highlights Of 11-Day Apollo Mission Are Announced

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Here are highlights scheduled for the 11-day flight of Apollo 7:

Launch Day

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham blast off at 11 a.m. EDT into oval-shaped earth orbit ranging from 142 to 176 miles high. About three hours after liftoff, crew uses the orbiting upper stage of Apollo 7's Saturn 1B booster rocket to rehearse docking techniques to be done when later Apollo craft fly to the moon.

Second Day

After separating from the orbiting rocket stage to a distance of 83 miles, Apollo 7's main 21,000-pound-thrust engine is triggered two times, about 26 and 28 hours after liftoff, to rendezvous with the booster, simulating how an Apollo spaceship in lunar orbit might rescue astronauts in a moon-landing craft stranded in the wrong orbit around the moon.

Third Day

Apollo 7 tracks orbiting rocket from distances up to 370 miles to test spaceship's ability to line up a rendezvous target. Astronauts use sextant to see how well they can navigate by stars. They later photograph weather and terrain features on earth.

Fourth Day

Crew uses landmarks on earth to see if they can calculate their orbit, continue star-sighting tests and photograph more land and weather features. Main Apollo engine ignited third time to adjust orbit so astronauts can return to earth using maneuvering rockets if main engine should fail.

Fifth Day

Engineering test of spacecraft radiators to see how well they cool components. Navigation test using combination of stars and earth's horizon.

Sixth Day

First of two minimum impulse burns of main Apollo engine to see if short bursts of the motor could be used to save fuel in spacecraft maneuvering rockets. More navigation experiments.

Seventh Day

Longest firing of main Apollo engine. Burn lasts 57 seconds to adjust orbit toward better recovery zone, with Schirra switching from automatic to manual control.

Scranton Gives Report On Mission

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—William W. Scranton says European leaders believe this is not the appropriate time for a summit conference with the Soviets, particularly in view of the Czechoslovak situation.

Scranton, just back from 20 days in Western European capitals, discussed his trip with newsmen Thursday after giving a report on it to Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate.

From here the former Pennsylvania governor flew to Washington to report today to Secretary of State Dean Rusk on his trip.

Scranton said there was little discussion of the Vietnam war and that he did not attempt to describe to the European leaders Nixon's position on the war. He made the trip at Nixon's request.

He told newsmen that many Europeans are worried about the change in deployment of Soviet troops and that Italy is particularly alarmed about the strengthening of the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean.

Scranton said French leaders told him they considered Britain's entry into the European Common Market as inevitable, but at the present time French President Charles de Gaulle is opposed to it.

Suit Is Filed In Bridge Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A West Virginia woman seeks $500,000 in a suit which traces to the death of her husband in the collapse of an Ohio River bridge last December.

Margaret May Cantrell, Gallipolis Ferry, W.Va., brought the action in U.S. District Court here as an individual and as administrator of the estate of her late husband, Aaron Cantrell.

He was among 46 persons killed when the bridge spanning the Ohio River near Gallipolis collapsed December 15, 1967.

Defendants in the suit are the United States Government, the state of Ohio, The United States Steel Corp., and J.E. Greiner Co., Baltimore, Md.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— A space veteran and two rookies rode the world's largest manned spacecraft into orbit today on an 11-day adventure that could place America firmly on the path to the moon.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham, dressed for the moon in the new bubble-topped lunar suits, hurtled into orbit aboard the 69,000-pound Apollo 7. If the flight goes well, it ends after 11 days and 4½ million miles of flight through space.

Thousands of people lined Atlantic beaches as the Saturn 1B rocket, the most powerful booster ever used for a U.S. manned flight, slugged the spacecraft into orbit, riding a tail of fire the length of a football field.

The eight first stage engines, generating 1.6 million pounds of thrust—more power than 100 jet fighter planes—ignited at 11:03 a.m. EDT, roared into the crystal blue sky and curved down-range.

Schirra said shortly after ignition that the ride "was a little bumpy", but six minutes later he said it was "riding like a dream."

Eisele reported the guidance and navigation system was "go."

Mission Control Center said the mighty booster rocket performed flawlessly during its 10 minutes of powered flight, accelerating the spacecraft to 17,500 miles an hour and drilling it into orbit.

Mission control announced that the orbit achieved was 140 by 183 miles, very close to the desired path of 142 by 176 miles.

"We're looking at the Canary Islands," Schirra reported to capsule communicator John Swigert a few minutes after Apollo 7 had been inserted into orbit.

"You're making me jealous," Swigert replied.

Success of the Apollo 7 flight may open the door for another Apollo crew to orbit the moon in December, a vital step toward landing men on the moon next year.

The spacecraft was to remain mated to the booster second stage, called the S4B, for about three hours, just as it will be on a moon flight.

After two orbits, the Apollo Command and Service module, which holds the crew, will inch forward and separate from the S4B.

The crew then flies in formation with the spent booster for a time before moving 83 miles out in front to get into position for a rendezvous late Saturday.

While attached to the S4B, the spacecraft is 113 feet, 3 inches caboose of a slow-moving

At separation from the S4B, the 16,000-pound Apollo Command and Service Module will still be larger by two tons than any flown by the Russians and 12 tons larger than the two-man Gemini spacecraft.

Wallace Set, But Hecklers Don't Appear

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — George C. Wallace came to the Duluth Arena, which 6,350 people filled to capacity Thursday night, with a bouquet of roses to toss to hecklers.

But there was no heckling. About 50 or 100 persons walked out early in his speech without fuss. The rest of the audience applauded politely, and at times enthusiastically, but were markedly more restrained than other audiences in recent days.

Consequently, when Wallace came to his customary criticism of the press and singled out his favorite target, the New York Times, an aide delivered a single rose to correspondent Martin Waldron who responded with a bow.

Aboard his airplane enroute to Duluth, Wallace strolled the aisle making jokes with the reporters accompanying him.

"You boys better start writing some good things about me," he said, "I look like I'm going to make it."

Predicting how he thought press reaction to his candidacy would change in the 3½ weeks remaining until election day, Wallace quipped: "It's like when Napoleon escaped from Elba. The first headlines said, 'The beast has escaped, he's in Granada.' But by the time he got to Paris the headlines were, 'Our great emperor has returned.'"

Nice Weather

Covers Much

Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pleasant fall weather, seasoned with a tinge of crisp evening temperatures, favored a vast stretch of the nation's interior today.

Sandwiching the favorable pattern on either side were cool cloudiness and showers in the Pacific Northwest and light rain and fog in parts of the East.

Temperatures in the 40s and 50s again were common before dawn over most of the northern two-thirds of the country. The mercury shrank into the frosty 30s in portions of the northern Rockies and Plains and the Great Lakes region.

Butte, Mont., and Evanston, Wyo., cooled down to 31 well before dawn.

Rainfall in the Northwest and East generally was on the light side. In both regions, the dampness accompanied invasions by cooler weather.

Nixon Plans European Trip If He Wins Presidency

DALLAS (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, predicting he'll "win big" in November, already is thinking about a possible post-election trip to Europe to meet with allied leaders.

Before flying to Dallas Thursday night from Akron, Ohio, the Republican presidential candidate met with former Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, just back from a 20-day fact finding mission to Western Europe on Nixon's behalf.

It was Scranton who disclosed, at a news conference, that Nixon would like preinaugural meeting with leaders of Western Europe should he gain the White House.

Scranton said Nixon would want to talk personally with as many European leaders as possible, assuming he is elected.

The Nixon campaign rolled through Illinois and Ohio Thursday with one public appearance in each state.

Speaking to an overflow crowd of more than 5,000 in a university field house at Akron, Nixon first tried to ignore anti-war chants by some 40 demonstrators. Then he said, as he had in similar situations before,

Robbery Reported

Two masked bandits pulled off a Jesse James-style train robbery here early today.

Cheerful deputies said the armed robbers hopped onto the caboose of a slow-moving freight train on the city's west side, relieved the startled conductor of $65, and hopped off the moving train.

that at a Nixon rally his backers shout down the hecklers. Then he waved his hand in mock salute to the protestors while many in the crowd faced them with thumbs-down gestures.

To a heckler-free crowd of 6,500 in a field house at Moline, Ill., the GOP nominee said:

"We're going to win in Illinois. We're going to win in the nation. We're going to win big."

issued a statement aimed at breaking the traditional allegiance of labor to Democrats.

"The rank and file of American labor is rightly resentful of the way some union treasuries are being emptied to support the sagging campaign of an administration that has proven to be a false friend of labor," he said.

He said Democrats had broken their contract with labor failing to fight inflation."

HHH Still Seeking Debates; Urges Activist Presidency

NEW YORK (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey said today that he and his running mate, Sen. Edmund G. Muskie, will guarantee the cost of television debates with Richard M. Nixon and Gov. George Wallace.

Humphrey made the proposal a day after Senate Republicans blocked legislation to permit free time for television debates this year—debates Humphrey has counted on to catch up with the front-running Nixon, his Republican opponent for the presidency.

Nixon so far has not accepted any Humphrey invitations for debate.

Humphrey proposed that Nixon and Wallace appear with him on two debates, and that Sen. Muskie appear with the opponents' running mates, Gov. Spiro Agnew and retired Gen. Curtis LeMay, in a third debate.

Earlier, Humphrey said he favored an even more active presidency in the years ahead because "there is so much that needs to be done."

The Democratic presidential nominee spoke with unusual passion and vehemence Thursday night in two speeches, one to a fund-raising meeting of apparel industry leaders, the second to the annual dinner of the Queens County Democratic Committee.

In speaking to the clothing manufacturers, Humphrey emphasized the importance of the president as the sole nationally elected leader and asserted his belief that "one man can make a difference."

"I say what is needed," he went on, "it is not less action by the presidency but even more if that is possible, dedicated action, not just action for action's sake, because there is so much that needs to be done."

Sen. Muskie Discloses Finances

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says his financial net worth is $106,468, the bulk of it in real estate and securities.

Muskie, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, listed his home and property in Bethesda, Md., as having a market value of $65,000 while his home in Kennebunk, Maine, was valued at $30,000.

"However, these have mortgages payable in the amounts of $36,026 and $12,621, respectively," he said in a financial statement issued while he was campaigning in New Jersey Thursday.

The Maine senator listed securities with a market value of $14,940.

He also listed assets of $11,000 in household goods and personal effects; $4,780 as market value for automotive vehicles, $12,930 as the cash surrender value of life insurance policies and $18,550 in contributions to the U.S. Civil Service Retirement Fund.

As liabilities, he listed $48,647 in mortgages, a $2,250 bank loan, and $2,370 under miscellaneous.

Mail Sales Of Long Guns Prohibited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strongest gun control bill ever to pass Congress is awaiting the signature of President Johnson who has sought an even tougher measure.

The bill before the President, compromise product of a House-Senate conference committee, bans the mail order sale of rifles, shotguns and ammunition.

Although it lacks provisions for registration of owners and licensing of firearms which Johnson pleaded for, he is expected to sign it. It is not certain when Congressional action on the bill that was given life by the deaths of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was completed Thursday by the House.

Besides making it illegal to buy through the mail outside the state in which you live, the bill bans sales of firearms or ammunition to juveniles, fugitives, mental incompetents, drug addicts or persons under criminal indictment.

It forbids over-the-counter sales of pistols to anyone under 21 and rifles and shotguns to those under 18. Similar age limits would apply to the sale of ammunition.

There was little real opposition to the compromise although the relatively narrow margin for passage—160 to 129—reflected a last-ditch effort by opponents to sidetrack the bill until next year.

Some members objected to two provisions in the compromise that changed the measure from the way it originally passed the House.

Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., objected to the bans on all ammunition. He had successfully sponsored an amendment to exclude ammunition for rifles, shotguns and 22-caliber target pistols.

He said the measure, as it now stands, would subject

9 Cubans Are Charged In Bombings

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Nine Cuban exiles were charged today in connection with a nationwide wave of anti-Castro terror activities—bombings and shellings conducted in the name of "Cuban power."

A former Cuban doctor, Orlando Bosch, was among those charged. He was accused of threatening to destroy ships and planes of Great Britain, Mexico and Spain in cablegrams sent June 6 to the heads of government in those countries.

Bosch and two other exiles, Jose Diaz Morejon and Barbaro Balan Garcia, also were charged with the Sept. 16 shelling of the Polish freighter Polonia in Miami harbor. That incident led to apologies by the United States government after protests were published in Iron Curtain newspapers.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, said the charges involved a wave of terror that included bombings in New York, Los Angeles and Miami where 39 bombings or attempted bombings have occurred since Jan. 1.

All nine of those named in the indictment were arrested in Miami today, the FBI said.

Presidential Candidates Seek Ohio Votes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Presidential candidates are hitting Ohio hard in their quest for support in the Nov. 5 election.

Republican Richard M. Nixon spent a half-day in Akron Thursday and plans to be back in the Buckeye State later this month for a "whistle stop" tour from Cincinnati to Toledo.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey headed for Ohio today for a round of appearances in Cincinnati and an address before the National Newspaper Association convention.

And an aide of George C. Wallace announced plans Thursday to open an American Independent Party state headquarters in Columbus and declared that the party's ticket of Wallace and retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay "is now leading in Ohio."

Nixon said in a statement in industrial Akron Thursday that the rank and file of organized labor is disillusioned with the present administration because it has failed to halt inflation.

He said union men are "resentful of the way some union

Nixon encountered some heckling at the University of Akron, but received a loud roar from a crowd of 5,000 when he urged his supporters to "shout down the hecklers."

The former vice president asked members of the audience to get to work, to "talk to 10 people on the fence between now and election" and help him carry Ohio.

State GOP Chairman John S. Andrews announced that the Republican candidate would be back in Ohio Oct. 21-22 for a "whistle stop" train tour starting in Cincinnati with stops in Middletown, Dayton, Springfield, London, Columbus, Marion, Lima, Deshler and Toledo.

In connection with the trip, rallies are planned in Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo.

Humphrey, accompanied by fellow Minnesotan U.S. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, was due in Cincinnati about 1 p.m. today.

Plans called for a press conference, a television interview, and a rally on Government Square before his scheduled appearance before the newspaper association.

Meanwhile, Humphrey's son, Robert, 24, is campaigning in Ohio for his father and was in Columbus.

G. Sage Lyons of Mobile, Ala., third party aspirant Wallace's national campaign coordinator, said the former Alabama governor will make another appearance in Ohio before election day.

He said LeMay, a native of Columbus, will make a separate visit to the state in behalf of the ticket.

All nine of those named in the indictment were arrested in Miami today, the FBI said.

Tactics Change In Smut War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office has abandoned censorship as a weapon in the war against smut and is training its guns only on dealers who mail pornography to people who complain.

Main goal of this new strategy, says Chief Postal Inspector Harry B. Montague, is to keep advertisements for smut out of the hands of children and young people.

Montague indicates the heat is off consenting individuals who use the mails to exchange obscene photographs and reading matter.

Montague said in an interview that since 1957, the courts and the Justice Department have hindered the Post Office in its fight against pornography, and battle lines had to be redrawn.

Montague, chief inspector since 1961, now largely relies on individual protests from the public.

He and the 1,080 "Post Office policemen" across the nation have been helped by a six-month old federal antipandering law.

Acting under this statute, the Post Office has received since April nearly 75,000 complaints about material which recipients said they'd received through the mails and which was "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

Ohio Crops To Be Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U. S. Department of Agriculture crop forecasts indicate Ohio farmers will have a record crop this year.

Total crop production for the nation, the department said, is estimated to be 3 per cent above the 1966 previous record and 8 per cent above 1967.

Ohio corn production is expected to total 254 million bushels, down 1 per cent from 1967 but 13 per cent above average.

Yield per acre is estimated at 88 bushels, up nine bushels from last year and four bushels above the 1966 record yield.

Soybean production for Ohio is estimated at a record 66 million bushels with a yield per acre of 29 bushels.

Wheat and oat crop estimates of 46.6 and 45.8 million bushels respectively are unchanged from the September estimate.

Ohio hay registered 3.5 million tons, up 18 per cent over last year and 1 per cent above the average. Sugar beet production is estimated at 700,000 tons, and all major fruit crops have increased.

Highlights Of 11-Day Apollo Mission Are Announced

Launch Day

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham blast off at 11 a.m. EDT into oval-shaped earth orbit ranging from 142 to 176 miles high. About three hours after liftoff, crew uses the orbiting upper stage of Apollo 7's Saturn 1B booster rocket to rehearse docking techniques to be done when later Apollo craft fly to the moon.

Second Day

After separating from the orbiting rocket stage to a distance of 83 miles, Apollo 7's main 21,000-pound-thrust engine is triggered two times, about 26 and 28 hours after liftoff, to rendezvous with the booster, simulating

how an Apollo spaceship in lunar orbit might rescue astronauts in a moon-landing craft stranded in the wrong orbit around the moon.

Third Day

Apollo 7 tracks orbiting rocket from distances up to 370 miles to test spaceship's ability to line up a rendezvous target. Astronauts use sextant to see how well they can navigate by stars. They later photograph weather and terrain features on earth.

Fourth Day

Crew uses landmarks on earth to see if they can calculate their orbit, continue star-sighting tests and photograph more land and weather features. Main Apollo engine ignited third time to adjust orbit so astronauts can return to earth using maneuvering rockets if main engine should fail.

Fifth Day

Engineering test of spacecraft radiators to see how well they cool components. Navigation test using combination of stars and earth's horizon.

Sixth Day

First of two minimum impulse burns of main Apollo engine to see if short bursts of the motor could be used to save fuel in spacecraft maneuvering rockets. More navigation experiments.

Seventh Day

Longest firing of main Apollo engine. Burn lasts 57 seconds to adjust orbit toward better recovery zone, with Schirra switching from automatic to manual control.

Scranton Gives Report On Mission

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—William W. Scranton says European leaders believe this is not the appropriate time for a summit conference with the Soviets, particularly in view of the Czechoslovak situation.

Scranton, just back from 20 days in Western European capitals, discussed his trip with newsmen Thursday after giving a report on it to Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate.

From here the former Pennsylvania governor flew to Washington to report today to Secretary of State Dean Rusk on his trip.

Scranton said there was little discussion of the Vietnam war and that he did not attempt to describe to the European leaders Nixon's position on the war. He made the trip at Nixon's request.

He told newsmen that many Europeans are worried about the change in deployment of Soviet troops and that Italy is particularly alarmed about the strengthening of the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean.

Scranton said French leaders told him they considered Britain's entry into the European Common Market as inevitable, but at the present time French President Charles de Gaulle is opposed to it.

Suit Is Filed In Bridge Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A West Virginia woman seeks $500,000 in a suit which traces to the death of her husband in the collapse of an Ohio River bridge last December.

Margaret May Cantrell, Gallipolis Ferry, W.Va., brought the action in U.S. District Court here as an individual and as administrator of the estate of her late husband, Aaron Cantrell.

He was among 46 persons killed when the bridge spanning the Ohio River near Gallipolis collapsed December 15, 1967.

Defendants in the suit are the United States Government, the state of Ohio, The United States Steel Corp., and J.E. Greiner Co., Baltimore, Md.

Presidential Candidates Seek Ohio Votes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Presidential candidates are hitting Ohio hard in their quest for support in the Nov. 5 election.

Republican Richard M. Nixon spent a half-day in Akron Thursday and plans to be back in the Buckeye State later this month for a "whistle stop" tour from Cincinnati to Toledo.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey headed for Ohio today for a round of appearances in Cincinnati and an address before the National Newspaper Association convention.

And an aide of George C. Wallace announced plans Thursday to open an American Independent Party state headquarters in Columbus and declared that the party's ticket of Wallace and retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay "is now leading in Ohio."

Nixon said in a statement in industrial Akron Thursday that the rank and file of organized labor is disillusioned with the present administration because it has failed to halt inflation.

He said union men are "resentful of the way some union

The former vice president asked members of the audience to get to work, to "talk to 10 people on the fence between now and election" and help him carry Ohio.

State GOP Chairman John S. Andrews announced that the Republican candidate would be back in Ohio Oct. 21-22 for a "whistle stop" train tour starting in Cincinnati with stops in Middletown, Dayton, Springfield, London, Columbus, Marion, Lima, Deshler and Toledo.

In connection with the trip, rallies are planned in Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo.

Humphrey, accompanied by fellow Minnesota U.S. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, was due in Cincinnati about 1 p. m. today. Plans called for a press conference, a television interview, and a rally on Government Square before his scheduled appearance before the newspaper association.

Meanwhile, Humphrey's son, Robert, 24, is campaigning in Ohio for his father and was in Columbus.

G. Sage Lyons of Mobile, Ala., third party aspirant Wallace's national campaign coordinator, said the former Alabama governor will make another appearance in Ohio before election day.

He said LeMay, a native of Columbus, will make a separate visit to the state in behalf of the ticket.

Red Force Slips Out Of U.S. Trap Close To Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — American infantrymen blocking the northwestern invasion corridors to Saigon tried to trap some 300 enemy troops today, but the bulk of them apparently slipped away.

A heavy bombardment on their positions by jet fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery killed 26 of the enemy force before they got away.

U.S. casualties were put at six men killed and 16 wounded.

The fighting swirled through rice paddies and thick hedge-rows 27 miles northwest of Saigon, a mile from where American ground and air forces killed
147 North Vietnamese soldiers
Monday and Tuesday.

It is a familiar battleground, long dominated by the veteran North Vietnamese 101st Regiment and the Viet Cong Cu Chi Regiment.

The fighting broke out Thursday morning when about 400 infantrymen drew heavy fire from troops dug in along the hedge-rows surrounding a hamlet near the district town of Trang Bang.

Then 600 reinforcements rushed in and the Americans attempted to put a cordon around the enemy force, estimated to be a battalion.

Fighting continued until nightfall, but the bulk of the enemy force apparently slipped out under the cover of darkness this morning.

Five miles farther south, an enemy defector led other 25th Division troops to two municipation stockpiles that yielded 2½ tons of war supplies. They included 53 carbines, 150 rounds of mortar shells, 450 hand grenades, 150 fuses for mortar rounds, 300 Chinese Communist Claymore mines, and about 8,000 rounds of ammunition for AK47 assault rifles.

Troopers from the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division found two more enemy caches only nine miles west-northwest of Saigon.
They contained a light machine gun, 74 bazooka-type rocket grenades, 18 pounds of TNT, 100 blasting caps, 17,000 rounds of small arms ammunition and a bundle of propaganda leaflets.

Deaths

daughter of Jonathan and Estella Thomas Lutz. She was twice married. Both husbands, Earl Kettner and Edward Balthaser, preceded her in death.

She was a member of Tarleton
United Methodist Church,
W.S.C.S., and a charter member of Saltcreek Valley Grange.

She is survived by a daughter,
Mrs. Lloyd (Roanne) Spung,
Route 4; a foster son, Dr. David Baker, Columbus; five grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs.
Lorin Heacock, Marysville and Mrs. Ruby Hudnell, Mt. Gilead.

Services will be 1 p.m.
Monday at the Deffenbaugh
Funeral Home with Rev. Donald Cummins officiating. Burial will be in Hitler-Ludwig

Registration Still Open For Y-School

Harold Hewitt, YMCA director, announced today that registrations are still being accepted for all courses in the Y-sponsored Informal Education
School.

We still have openings, Hewitt said, but those interested must register early to be assured of the courses desired since registration is based on a class quota of 20 in most cases.

Many of the beginner's courses will be continued as advanced courses in January and May sessions. A special $4 discount is being offered to YMCA members and senior citizens. Husbands and wives registering for the same course will also be given the $4 discount, Hewitt noted.

Courses include modern mathematics, investment and securities, newspaper and publicity writing, family law, interior decorating, flower arranging, cake decorating, hatmaking, sewing, knitting, painting, bridge, guitar and advanced guitar, men's physical fitness, women's physical fitness, women's gymnastics and men's noon conditioning.

APOLLO 7 ASTRONAUT DONN EISELE IN PRESSURE GARMENT ASSEMBLY

Apollo 7 Mission . . .

Among those watching the spectacular liftoff of America's first manned flight in nearly two years was Cunningham's wife, Lo Ella. She and their two children, Brian, 8, and Kimberly, 5, watched from a boat floating on a river near Cape Kennedy.

The families of Schirra and Eisele watched on television at their homes near the Manned Spacecraft in Houston, Tex.
The countdown to launch of the marathon flight was near flawless. A brief hold was called at 6:15 to permit proper chill down of the second stage rocket engines, but the problem was quickly corrected.

Their job will be to circle the earth 163 times in 10 days, 20 hours, and 9 minutes to check out the complex systems in the Apollo craft. It has nearly two million functioning parts—compared to about 2,000 for an automobile.

"One of the prime requisites of this flight," Cunningham said, "is to come back with the feeling that all of the spacecraft systems are capable of supporting a flight duration that would take you to the moon and back."

Project officials admit the flight may not go the full route because of the complexity of the equipment.

"Our most important learning for this flight is to determine how the spacecraft lasts," said Glynn Lunney, the flight director. "We can gain just about every systems objective in the first three or four days if an

Pedestrian Injured In Auto Mishap

A Millport pedestrian was struck by a car driven by an Ashville area youth at the intersection of State Route 316
and Circleville-Lockbourne Road about 10 p.m. Thursday.

Admitted to Berger Hospital for surgery was Flora Dunlap, 46, who suffered severe body lacerations in the accident. She was listed in satisfactory condition Friday, following surgery.

The car which struck the pedestrian was driven by 17-year-old David Booth of Route

Booth told Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz that he was westbound on Route 316 at the time of the accident. He said that he watched a bus pass him going east and then saw a
him. He swerved to the left to avoid an accident, but struck the pedestrian with the right rear fender of his car.

No citation was issued by the sheriff's department.

Stock Market Eases Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market underwent a mild decline early this afternoon amid signs of selective strength.
Trading was moderate.

Losses outnumbered gains only by about 50 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .8 at 353.1, with industrials off 1.6, rails off .4, and utilities off .1.

The market was lower almost from the opening as it followed through on Thursday's fairly steep correction. Changes were very narrow in early dealings, but there were bigger ones as the session warmed up.

RCA was far ahead as most-active stock, losing a full point, following news of the proposed merger with St. Regis Paper.
St. Regis was delayed in opening.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.12 at 948.66.

On the American Stock Exchange prices edged irregularly higher.

As a result, the Apollo craft has been completely redesigned and made practically fireproof.

Local officials said transfer was a continuation of proceedings initiated in May when Lincoln was purchased by the U. S. Chemicals Division of U. S. Steel Corp.

Many of the beginner courses will be continued in advanced courses in January and May sessions. A special discount is being offered YMCA members and senior citizens. Husbands and wives registering for the same course will also be given the discount. Hewitt noted.

U.S. Troops Admire Viet Red Soldiers

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
IN THE DMZ, Vietnam (AP) — The rain-soaked American infantrymen pushed through the southern part of the demilitarized zone with one thought in mind—kill as many Charlies as possible.

But as they moved through a large bunker complex where the enemy recently made his home, many GIs expressed curiosity and respect for the foe.

The area had been heavily bombed and shelled. Some bunkers had been caved in by explosions. Others were burned black by napalm. It was clear the enemy troops who were here had lived through hell before pulling back, perhaps to set up an ambush over the next ridge. There was open sympathy in the voice of a few GIs as they discussed the life and fate of their enemy. The Americans saw a partial mirror image of their own life. The North Vietnamese here had been riflemen like themselves, the man at the bottom of the heap whose nose is alternately rubbed in the mud and choked with dust, but always pointed toward the next battle.

"You know, I'll bet old Charlie and us would have a lot to talk about if the shootin' would just stop," one bearded corporal said. A few diaries taken from enemy bodies have voiced similar sentiments.

The big Z, GI slang for the Demilitarized zone, is a place that can make strong men stronger and break the weak. It is consistently the most dangerous place in Vietnam, and also as unpleasant a place as troops on both sides are likely to find.

In hot weather, water is short and the sun merciless. When the rains come, they are not the sudden cloudbursts common in and South but often last for days and leave infantrymen soaked, mud-caked and shivering until the clouds break again.

This knowledge of shared misery has caused more than one Marine and Army rifleman to speculate on the enemy.

The Marines, who have for years borne the brunt of the DMZ fighting, refer to the North Vietnamese as Mr. Charles to differentiate from the home-grown Viet Cong guerrillas, or Charlie. Both expressions are derived from radio code for the enemy, Victor Charlie—V.C.

This image has survived for many despite repeated stories of enemy atrocities including shooting wounded and prisoners and disfiguring bodies. By some lights, there have been battlefield excesses on both sides, and many American GIs accept those of the enemy as the work of a handful of zealots or acts ordered by higher-ups.

Some time ago a Marine company stopped for chow during a day-long operation that had cost it several killed and wounded. In looking for a place to sit, one rifleman found the body of a North Vietnamese soldier in a camouflaged fighting hole. They casually wondered what to do with the body.

The company commander settled the question: "Break out your entrenching tools (shovels) and bury him. He died fighting for what he believed in."

Such charity is rare, but it happens.

When U.S. infantrymen discuss their foes, two things often dominate the conversation, a respect for the enemy's ability to endure hardships and his seeming readiness to die in battle.

Tips On Fire Prevention

About 20 per cent of all fire fatalities are children under five years. Many suffer burns. Special care should be taken to protect your children from fire.

Never leave little children alone, not even for a little while. Have a dependable babysitter with the children while you are away. Give the sitter specific instructions on what to do in case of fire.

Put matches or lighters away, out of reach of children.

Don't use lighted candles for decorations at children's parties.

Turn pot handles so they don't stick out beyond the edge of the stove where children can reach them.

Bridge Contract Is Awarded

The Pickaway County Commissioners awarded the contract for construction of a bridge over Dry Run in Muhlenberg Twp. to the Dial Construction Co., Wednesday.

The firm submitted a low bid of $29,855.46 for the project, the lowest of the five submitted. Pickaway County Engineer Henry McCrady estimated the project at $37,335.38.

Four of the five bids submitted were under the engineer's estimate. Bids were: V & Y Construction, $37,290; Twin Construction, $34,490.14; W. J. Seidensticker, $43,593.31; G. W. Melvin Contracting Co., $34,605.52.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Reveal Your Past In Plain English

DEAR ABBY: I need your help desperately and I need it now. I am going to be married soon to a very decent and wonderful guy.

I have led him to believe that I am the "nicest" girl he has ever known. I realize that I should have told him the truth long before this, but it's too late now. He is looking forward to a pure, untouched wife, and he is not going to have one if he marries me.

In plain English, how can I tell him I am not a virgin?

STUMPED
DEAR STUMPED: In plain English.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you will answer an anonymous letter as I'm sure my husband would be very hurt if he knew I wrote to you.

You see, my problem is, after 25 years of marriage, all I feel for my husband is "tolerance." He wants to spend every minute with me. He goes with me to do all the shopping. He works with me around the house. We go on vacations together, and except for the eight hours we spend at our respective jobs during the day, we are always together.

I do my wifely duties with resentment. I would love to be able to go to a movie without him, or to read a book, or just be left alone. If I don't get a weekend without him I will go crazy.

Our children are grown and living out of state, so we have no strong ties anymore as far as I'm concerned. Please help me. I feel so smothered. I would love to be a "gold widow" or the like, but I don't want to hurt him.

"LOOKING FOR RELIEF"
DEAR LOOKING: If you want to be "alone" to read a book or see a movie, quit your job. But that's not really your problem. You "tolerated" your husband when the kids were young and he was necessary to help raise them. Now you're bored with him.

Go see your kids. Take a trip with a friend. But if you don't want to "hurt" your husband, don't let him know how you've conned him for 25 years.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 17 years and I don't regret a minute of it, but listen to this: I have nine beautiful wonderful kids (when they're asleep) ranging all the way from a nine-month-old baby to a pair of 16-year-old twins. I am the maid, chief cook and bottle-washer, chauffeur, laundress, gardener, bookkeeper, teacher, "nurse," referee, and psychiatrist. And now my husband expects me to be an animal trainer and dog catcher.

He brought home a three-week-old cocker spaniel "for the kids"—and guess who has to train him, feed him, walk him, and clean up after him? (Don't tell me to hit the pup with a rolled-up newspaper. Have you ever looked into the eyes of a three-week-old cocker spaniel and tried to HIT him?)

Am I wrong to say this dog has got to go?

KEN'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: If Ken brought the pup home for "the kids"—the kids should take care of him. Every family should have a pet, but the children should be taught to care for him. If you refuse to learn—out!

CONFIDENTIAL TO BILL M. IN ALBUQUERQUE: Tell the neighbor girls personally that the reason you have a wall around your patio is that you want privacy, and you'd appreciate it if they didn't sit up there and observe you and your guests. If that doesn't work, tell their parents.

Hargus-Hominy Watershed Plan Initiated

Hargus and Hominy Creek Watershed planning has begun.

A steering committee has been elected to collect flood damage statistics within this watershed and to submit a request for watershed development.

Watershed development would be a program for the prevention of such flood damages as Circleville and Pickaway County experienced this past spring.

The officers elected for the steering committee are: James Trimmer, Route 4, chairman; Donald Mason, 437 N. Court Street, vice chairman; and Loring Leist, Route 4, secretary.

THOSE attending the original meeting in addition to the above were: Bertus Bennett, Richard Gearhardt, Russ Palm, David Bolender, Walter Rase, Donald Archer, George Hamrick, Pearl Fogle, District Supervisor of S.C.S., and Byron Nolte, State Extension Service Specialist on Watershed Development.

The committee will be actively collecting flood damage statistics during the next few days in preparation for submitting their application for watershed planning.

Varieties of marlin, sailfish and swordfish are found in the warmer waters of both the Pacific and the Atlantic.

A Boy And His Books

When you see a young man carrying books, take a close look at the kind of books he is carrying.

When you notice a boy who one time is carrying a school book and the next time a newspaperboy route book, you know there is something special about him . . . and his parents too!

For here is a boy more ambitious than most in an age when too many young men are not being encouraged to look further ahead than the next allowance from Dad and next Saturday's football game. Here is a boy learning the basic principles of free enterprise through his own individual efforts.

Here is a boy who is gaining a broad base of practical experience in addition to his formal education, placing him in an enviable position to make good, no matter what career he ultimately chooses.

Here is a boy who is a "manager," a "doer." He is learning to manage his time so that he can develop a business of his own, while, at the same time, pulling down good grades in school.

Here is a boy who is meeting people and dealing with them effectively and constructively, developing initiative and self-confidence, learning the value of service to others.

Here is a boy developing a sense of responsibility, initiative, learning the importance of setting an objective and working steadily toward it . . . profiting by his mistakes and setbacks as well as his successes.

Here is a boy who is our kind of boy — and in the years to come he will be this country's type of man.

Where is this boy? He's the boy delivering your newspaper. With a newspaper business of his own, and his parents behind him, a great future lies ahead for this boy. Watch him!

This newspaper joins with all others the country over in paying tribute to the newspaperboy on National Newspaperboy Day, Oct. 12. As far as we and his parents are concerned it is truly one of the most important days of the year.

Will your boy be your type of man?

Laff-A-Day

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

RUNNING the city of New York these days is a thankless job, as Mayor John Lindsay discovered as soon as he took office. At one stormy meeting open to the public, an indignant lady informed him, "If you stand for reelection, I wouldn't vote for you if you were St. Peter." Mayor Lindsay answered calmly, "Madam, if I were St. Peter, I doubt that you'd be in my voting district."

A determined lady phoned the city desk of an Indianapolis paper to order her husband's name inserted in the obituary column the following morning. He was shot, she explained, when discovered in a compromising situation with his seductive secretary. "When did your poor husband pass away?" asked the city editor. "Replied the caller, 'He starts tomorrow.'"

A judge in Dublin's fair city asked a witness, "Were you present at the beginning of the trouble between this friend of yours and his wife?" Answered the truthful witness, "sure and wasn't I the best man at their wedding?"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The first time I was in a hospital was when my tonsils were removed at the age of six. I remember every vivid nightmarish moment of it. Everything about it stands out in three-dimensional, fear-filled memories.

I have been told that I have a small cyst of the ovary which must be removed and I am absolutely petrified about going to a hospital again. For nineteen years I have carried the scar of my first experience. Can you prepare an adult as you so often suggest preparing children for an operation?

Mrs. N. H., Massachusetts
Dear Mrs. H.: As you may know you have touched on a subject that is exceedingly close to me. I constantly emphasize that the nightmarish experience avoided if mothers give their children emotional strength by telling them the truth, and the whole truth, about everything that will happen to them in the hospital. There is no room in a child's sensitive psyche for a lie.

In a book "A Visit to the Hospital," written by Francine Chase and published by Grosset and Dunlap, there is complete preparation of the child so that he will never feel the sense of abandonment that you were subjected to. The child who now goes to the hospital should know all about the operation, that it will hurt moderately, that there is a real and important reason for the surgery, and that the decision was made with love and devotion.

Mothers now insist on staying overnight in the hospital with their children so that the child will not feel deprived of the right of security that comes with the presence of a parent. Hospital administrators once took the attitude that children are "better off" without their parents. They have since learned that this is utter psychological ignorance. They now know that when the mother stays overnight with a child, he need for nursing care is reduced by almost 90 per cent. In this day of shortage of hospital personnel, this is another important consideration and hospitals are now arranging for mothers to stay overnight next to their children. Many mothers are perfectly willing to sit in a chair next to the crib or bed just to give children the added security they deserve.

The way to eradicate the terrible hospital memory you carry is to discuss every phase of the operation, the length of stay in the hospital, the type of anesthesia and the discomfort you may feel after it with your doctor, surgeon and anesthesiologist. They will tell you that the new anesthetics are no longer followed by nausea and vomiting and that the post-operative recovery period is shortened. In an uncomplicated operation on the ovary you probably will be up about, and walking within 24 hours.

The fear of anesthesia is one of the most distressing aspects of a hospital experience. There no longer is the sense of suffocation that one recalls during a childhood surgical experience. Every patient entering the hospital must be completely aware of what to expect if the surgery is to be followed by post-operative tranquility. Today's understanding surgeons and anesthesiologists know that the psychological preparation of "children" of all ages plays a valuable role in the toll recovery from surgery.

Stokes Readies $17 Million Plan On Law, Order

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Carl B. Stokes, troubled by racial unrest in Cleveland, announced Wednesday a $17 million program to improve law enforcement.

The Negro mayor also relieved Police Chief Michael J. Blackwell, 68, and gave the $22,125-a-year post to Deputy Inspector Patrick L. Gerity, 49.

Blackwell, who was appointed police chief when Stokes took office last November, turned down an offer to become a consultant to the police department and said he would rather go back to being an inspector.

George Wallace high-leveled the members of the National Press Club in Washington the other day, giving them an exemplary speech on foreign policy to which few reasonable men would take exception. He was not against foreign aid, only against its use to help those nations that refuse to help us. He was not against the UN, but he didn't want to see us subordinate ourselves in the UN to support a Secretary General who is far from impartial. He was for the free use of crucial land and water routes in world trade. He was for NATO, for the Monroe Doctrine, for showing displeasure at what the Soviets are doing in Eastern Europe. He was for helping Israel maintain commensurate level of strength vis-a-vis the Arab nations. He was for trying to get a peace by negotiation in Vietnam, but, in default of such a peace, he was for winning the war by the use of conventional weapons. He was against the embargo of trade with Rhodesia.

The performance was on such a high level that a reporter in the audience turned to his neighbor and asked, "Did someone in the State Department write the speech for him?"

After the speech was over the audience showed that it didn't give a plugged quarter for anything that Wallace had said on foreign policy. It went after him with distinctly low-level questions bearing on such things as Vice Presidential running mate Curtis LeMay's wish to bomb North Vietnam back to the Stone Age, segregation, Negro phobia, the time when Wallace stood out against integration by barring the schoolhouse door, and the number of Ku Kluxers who intend to vote the Wallace ticket.

If there were any chance of getting Wallace to answer a low-level question, the tactic of trying to get a straight defense of segregation out of the former Governor of Alabama might make sense. But Wallace knows how to shrug off all the standard reportorial gambits. He never answers a low-level question directly. He says he isn't against the Negro, and promises to employ them in important posts when he becomes President. He is not against school integration if the people in any given community want it. So the eel that is Wallace wriggles out of the hands of those who would pin him down. If he can't find a way of wriggling, he boldly attacks the liberals for their hypocrisy in sending their children to all-white private schools.

George Wallace's success in evading the low-level questions is so uniform, not to say brilliant, that it indicates an entirely new approach is needed to keep him from reaching the danger point of getting a third of the vote in crucial states. What conservatives and libertarians don't appreciate is that George Wallace is neither a conservative nor libertarian.

The city hall, along with other important buildings, was destroyed in Guaratuba, Brazil, when a large part of the coastline suddenly collapsed. There's one town where, apparently, city hall beat itself.

A pantie raid by male students was staged recently at a small Illinois college. Gosh! — how old-fashioned can you get?

Next thing you know, some tradition-minded students may try to jam into a phone booth or, even worse, take to goldfish swallowing again!

Nobody asked him at the Press Club how he felt, basically, about the rights of an individual, any individual, to be free of government coercion on any level, whether Federal, State or municipal. Nobody asked him what collectivizing programs he would discontinue if they happened to be transferred from the Federal government to the states. Is he against extension of the TVA principle which gives Alabama access to the Federal treasury for power projects that hurt private power companies? Is he against big handouts at the local level that serve to keep the poor on eternal relief when, at less expense, they might be trained to earn money for themselves? Is he against labor union compulsion, and, if so, would he advocate Right-to-Work laws in the individual states that do not now have such laws? The Wallace position is that it is perfectly all right for a state to do anything it wants provided fifty-one per cent of the population votes to confer that power on the local government. That is in accord with the States' Rights view of the U.S. Constitution. But it doesn't answer the question: Is George Wallace for the rights of the individual against oppression or discrimination by any government, whether it happens to be situated in Washington, in Montgomery, Alabama, or in any city and county from Machias, Maine, to San Diego, California?

Smoke Wallace out on such a question and you would get the measure of the man. The current methods being used to put Wallace on the spot are just plain ineffective.

COPENHAGEN (AP) — American tourists shopping along Copenhagen's famed Walking Street get a jolt when they pass the Nygade-Cinema Theater. There in living color are displayed photographs usually seen on "filthy" post cards.

The movie, "Man's Sweetest Playthings," is advertised as "the most daring sex picture ever made" and customers are advised: "It will be banned in most countries . . . Play safe—see it during your stay in Copenhagen." Those who heed the admonition witness the kind of sex depiction that is seen in the United States only at men's stags.

Such films can be exhibited in Denmark without fear of reprisal as this country moves toward absolute freedom of expression in terms of sex.

A year ago, the Danish Parliament, with virtually no opposition, passed a law that virtually lifted all bans against written pornography. This fall the Parliament is expected to pass another bill doing away with the last vestige of movie censorship.

These moves are likely to be studied by other nations, especially the United States, where liberalization of centuries-old puritanical traditions has lately been hastened by a series of Supreme Court decisions.

Denmark has moved toward the abolition of censorship after considerable study and public debate. A commission on criminal law reported to Parliament that it could find no proven link between pornography and corruption of sexual morals in general. One psychology professor told the commission:

"I do not think a long-time member of a nudist colony would be able to get excited by seeing the naked body of a woman." He hinted that the pornography market has reached the saturation point.

Censorship has been strongest in countries such as Ireland, Italy and the United States, where churchmen exercise a strong influence on moral issues. But in predominantly Lutheran Denmark, the church has little effect on the daily lives of the people. Lacking any clerical opposition, the anticensorship bill easily passed.

The basic reasoning was that it was insulting to tell adults what they cannot read. Restrictions were continued on the availability of pornography to children.

Oddly, there has never been any censorship of television in Denmark; the television officials themselves decide what should appear on the home screen. The only complaints about the programming appear to be a few letters to newspapers by mothers critical of the violence in such U.S. series as "Bonanza" and "The Virginian." Little is said about the late-evening Scandinavian movies which include some nude scenes.

NEW YORK (AP) —Whether successful or not, Friday's scheduled orbiting of a three-man spacecraft will reheat that old argument of spending priorities.

The question asked is whether the country can afford to spend as it has for space exploration.

Before the Apollo program is completed in 1971, by which time it is hoped that two Americans will have set foot on the moon, an estimated $24 billion will have been spent, or about $285 for every working man and woman.

Those who consider such spending wasteful argue that the earthly problems of urban chaos, pollution of the atmosphere and the financial plight of colleges are among projects more worthy of financial attention.

They can come up with a convincing argument by showing, for example, that the $44 billion already spent in space exploration could have provided better housing and food for millions, and might even have helped avert racial riots.

Supporters of heavy spending for space exploration argue that prestige, scientific and technological advance and military security demand that unceasing efforts be expended. Otherwise, they say, the United States might slide toward mediocrity.

The "general welfare and security of the United States require that adequate provision be made for aeronautical and space activities," is the way Congress phrased it in the National Aeronautics and Space Act of 1958.

To place everyone in "for" or "against" categories is to oversimplify the positions. Most Americans perhaps fall into both categories, supporting exploration but asking for practical achievements. They seek priorities.

These practical achievements have been numerous, especially in weather analysis, communications, metallurgy and electronics. Although the value of any of these achievements is difficult to measure in dollars, human beings do benefit to one degree or another.

Sports fans recently saw televised live from Sweden a boxing match between Jimmy Ellis and Floyd Patterson, which was made possible by a satellite in the sky, a product of the space program. An advance? Millions counted it so.

Satellites now relay photographs of the world's weather that enable meteorologists for the first time to obtain an overall view of disturbances. Potentially damaging hurricanes have been spotted by satellites. The entire question is one that might never be settled either way, for the proposers and opposers can support their point of view with a long list of documentation.

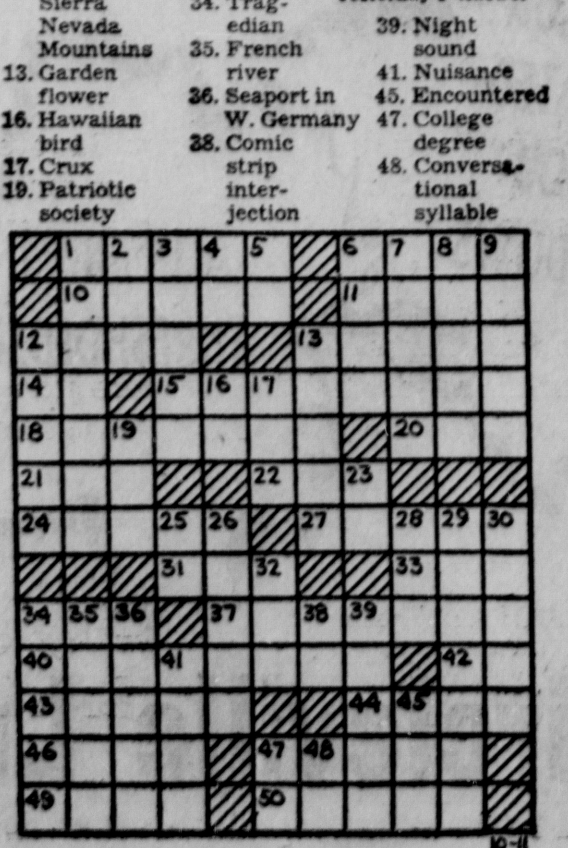

In recent years, however, the American people seem to be taking a more practical approach to space exploration. They have withdrawn the blank check, and as a result space spending this year will be $1 billion less than the $7.7 billion spent in the peak year of 1966.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

A Boy And His Books

When you see a young man carrying books, take a close look at the kind of books he is carrying.

When you notice a boy who one time is carrying a school book and the next time a newspaperboy route book, you know there is something special about him . . . and his parents too!

For here is a boy more ambitious than most in an age when too many young men are not being encouraged to look further ahead than the next allowance from Dad and next Saturday's football game. Here is a boy learning the basic principles of free enterprise through his own individual efforts.

Here is a boy who is gaining a broad base of practical experience in addition to his formal education, placing him in an enviable position to make good, no matter what career he ultimately chooses.

Here is a boy who is a "manager," a "doer." He is learning to manage his time so that he can develop a business of his own, while, at the same time, pulling down good grades in school.

Here is a boy who is meeting people and dealing with them effectively and constructively, developing initiative and self-confidence, learning the value of service to others.

Here is a boy developing a sense of responsibility, initiative, learning the importance of setting an objective and working steadily toward it . . . profiting by his mistakes and setbacks as well as his successes.

Here is a boy who is our kind of boy — and in the years to come he will be this country's type of man.

Where is this boy? He's the boy delivering your newspaper. With a newspaper business of his own, and his parents behind him, a great future lies ahead for this boy. Watch him!

This newspaper joins with all others the country over in paying tribute to the newspaperboy on National Newspaperboy Day, Oct. 12. As far as we and his parents are concerned it is truly one of the most important days of the year.

Will your boy be your type of man?

RUNNING the city of New York these days is a thankless job, as Mayor John Lindsay discovered as soon as he took office. At one stormy meeting open to the public, an indignant lady informed him, "If you stand for reelection, I wouldn't vote for you if you were St. Peter." Mayor Lindsay answered calmly, "Madam, if I were St. Peter, I doubt that you'd be in my voting district."

A determined lady phoned the city desk of an Indianapolis paper to order her husband's name inserted in the obituary column the following morning. He was shot, she explained, when discovered in a compromising situation with his seductive secretary. "When did your poor husband pass away?" asked the city editor. "Replied the caller, 'He started tomorrow.'"

A judge in Dublin's fair city asked a witness, "Were you present at the beginning of the trouble between this friend of yours and his wife?" Answered the truthful witness, "sure and wasn't I the best man at their wedding?"

Some years ago a well-publicized Hungarian troupe visited our shores to stage a revival of Lehar's famous operetta, "The Merry Widow." A local addition to the production staff noticed that the leading lady was having trouble with her W's in her rendition of "Witch of the Woods." "She's singing it 'Vitch of the Woods,'" he told the Hungarian director. The director, unconcerned, queried, "Vell?"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The first time I was in a hospital was when my tonsils were removed at the age of six. I remember every vivid nightmarish moment of it. Everything about it stands out in three-dimensional, fear-filled memories.

I have been told that I have a small cyst of the ovary which must be removed and I am absolutely petrified about going to a hospital again. For nineteen years I have carried the scar of my first experience. Can you prepare an adult as you so often suggest preparing children for an operation?

Mrs. N. H., Massachusetts
Dear Mrs. H.: As you may know you have touched on a subject that is exceedingly close to me. I constantly emphasize that the nightmarish experience avoided if mothers give their children emotional strength by telling them the truth, and the whole truth, about everything that will happen to them in the hospital. There is no room in a child's sensitive psyche for a lie.

In a book "A Visit to the Hospital," written by Francine Chase and published by Grosset and Dunlap, there is complete preparation of the child so that he will never feel the sense of abandonment that you were subjected to. The child who now goes to the hospital should know all about the operation, that it will hurt moderately, that there is a real and important reason for the surgery, and that the decision was made with love and devotion.

Mothers now insist on staying overnight in the hospital with their children so that the child will not feel deprived of the rightful security that comes with the presence of a parent.

Hospital administrators once took the attitude that children are "better off" without their parents. They have since learned that this is utter psychological ignorance. They now know that when the mother stays overnight with a child, he need for nursing care is reduced by almost 90 per cent. In this day of shortage of hospital personnel, this is another important consideration and hospitals are now arranging for mothers to stay overnight next to their children. Many mothers are perfectly willing to sit in a chair next to the crib or bed just

Asking The Right Questions

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

George Wallace high-leveled the members of the National Press Club in Washington the other day, giving them an exemplary speech on foreign policy to which few reasonable men would take exception. He was not against foreign aid, only against its use to help those nations that refuse to help us. He was not against the UN, but he didn't want to see us subordinate ourselves in the UN to support a Secretary General who is far from impartial. He was for the free use of crucial land and water routes in world trade. He was for NATO, for the Monroe Doctrine, for showing displeasure at what the Soviets are doing in Eastern Europe. He was for helping Israel maintain commensurate level of strength vis-a-vis the Arab nations. He was for trying to get a peace by negotiation in Vietnam, but, in default of such a peace, he was for winning the war by the use of conventional weapons. He was against the embargo of trade with Rhodesia.

The performance was on such a high level that a reporter in the audience turned to his neighbor and asked, "Did someone in the State Department write the speech for him?"

After the speech was over the audience showed that it didn't give a plugged quarter for anything that Wallace had said on foreign policy. It went after him with distinctly low-level questions bearing on such things as Vice Presidential running mate Curtis LeMay's wish to bomb North Vietnam back to the Stone Age, segregation, Negro-phobia, the time when Wallace stood out against integration by barring the schoolhouse door, and the number of Ku Kluxers who intend to vote the Wallace ticket.

Stokes Readies $17 Million Plan On Law, Order

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Carl B. Stokes, troubled by racial unrest in Cleveland, announced Wednesday a $17 million program to improve law enforcement.

The Negro mayor also relieved Police Chief Michael J. Blackwell, 68, and gave the $22,125-a-year post to Deputy Inspector Patrick L. Gerity, 49.

Blackwell, who was appointed police chief when Stokes took office last November, turned down an offer to become a consultant to the police department and said he would rather go back to being an inspector.

Stokes told a news conference he would ask City Council for communications system and to establish a modern command center to coordinate police response to crime calls.

Nobody asked him at the Press Club how he felt, basically, about the rights of an individual, any individual, to be free of government coercion on any level, whether Federal, State or municipal. Nobody asked him what collectivizing programs he would discontinue if they happened to be transferred from the Federal government to the states. Priest Leads Double Life, IRS Claims

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The children at Boys Town of the Desert know him as the Rev. Robert Nikliborc, Roman Catholic priest and head of the orphanage.

The U.S. attorney's office says he is known to neighbors in Palm Springs as Robert Drew Rand, an executive of an electronics firm with a $75,000 home.

Father Nikliborc was charged Wednesday with failing to declare personal income of nearly $120,000 over a three-year period.

U.S. Atty. Matt Byrne said the priest maintained a dual identity for several years, operating the orphanage at Banning, Calif., and living in the plush Palm Springs desert resort.

The government charges he didn't file income tax returns for the years 1963, 1964 and 1965 when he had a total gross income of $119,960.44.

The 37-year-old priest is president and financial director of the Catholic orphanage which cares for 65 boys. Last year he announced plans for a $4 million institution on land in nearby Beaumont owned by the San Diego diocese. He said it would be the first of 15 similar orphanages across the country.

Boys Town of the Desert is a school for youths up to 17 years old. It is operated by the Brothers of Charity of the Immaculate Heart of Mary. Officials at the orphanage said Father Nikliborc has been its president since 1961.

Roman Catholic Marriage Courts Come Under Attack

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—To invalidate a marriage in the Roman Catholic Church or permission to remarry is a long, complicated process, requiring specified technical conditions, detailed proofs and drawn-out Church court procedures.

Big backlogs of cases have piled up in many dioceses. Some dioceses simply decline to handle them. Sometimes, getting a firm decision takes years. And then it often is "no."

Long an arena of keen personal distress, the Church's matrimonial court system lately has come under increasing fire.

It is "constitutionally incapable of meeting the obligations of the Church and the needs of our people involved in broken marriages," the Rev. John T. Finnegan, of Pope John XXIII Seminary, Weston, Mass., told a recent meeting of the Canon Law Society of America.

The criticism, from various Church quarters, has opened up the whole issue of Catholic laws

Columbus Ready For Columbus Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A gala parade and fireworks display will be held Sunday as part of this city's celebration of Columbus Day.

Participating in the parade will be Miss Columbus USA and her court, 16 musical units, floats depicting great dates in American history, clowns, baton twirlers, and radio and television personalities.

The United States has 9,000 golf courses, collectively covering an area larger than the state of Rhode Island.

against divorce and remarriage as a new controversy in the Church.

Last week, the presiding judge of the New York archdiocesan marriage court, Msgr. Stephen J. Kelleher, was transferred to a suburban parish after he proposed that the marital courts be abolished, and that Catholics involved in "intolerable marriages" be allowed to decide for themselves whether they are morally free to remarry.

The tribunals produce "frustration, humiliation, distrust, suspicion and fear," he wrote in a mid-September issue of the Jesuit weekly, America. He said the system should be "abolished entirely."

"This would mean," he added, "that each person would decide in his own conscience whether or not he is free before God from one marriage and free to enter another."

He suggested that marriage commissions, possibly headed by laymen, be set up to help individuals reach responsible decisions about their status, in line with Christian teachings.

New York Archbishop Terence J. Cooke later issued a statement saying he hoped Msgr. Kelleher's "opinion will not unduly upset people" and that "the indissoluble bond of marriage is basically a matter of divine law."

Msgr. Kelleher, who had diocesan marriage courts, subsequently was relieved of his chancery duties and transferred —without comment on either side—to St. Pius X parish in the wealthy Scarsdale, N.Y., suburb.

Numerous other clergymen, however, have spoken out recently, both in criticism and defense of the Church's strict rules barring dissolution of what is considered a valid Christian marriage.

Under Church law, remarriage is prohibited unless the earlier union is found to have been invalid for various specified reasons, such as nonconsummation, refusal to bear children, or because one partner had not been baptized at the time.

Catholics who do remarry after civil divorces without rulings

by Church courts holding the previous unions invalid are barred from communion in the Church.

The commission on education will have as its WSCS representative, Mrs. Charles Scheiber for the coming year. Circles interested in catering luncheons or receptions should contact Mrs. Robert Scherer. Mrs. Donald Archer led the devotion period.

Mrs. Herbert Southward introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. George Sidwell, missionary now on furlough from Korea with his wife and family. He told about Korea, the customs, and told of many events in the life of his family while serving there. Following the showing of slides, a question and answer session was held.

At present Rev. Sidwell is serving at North Broadway United Methodist Church in Columbus.

NEW YORK (AP) — Early signs, as revealing as the width of caterpillars' stripes and the thickness of squirrels' coats, indicate that the television audience is facing a long, hot winter.

From "Mod Squad" to "Dragnet," from "Hawaii Five-O" to "Ironside," the script writers, aware of the current low status of physical violence, are punching up their stories with fiery words and hostility. And the two favorite subjects, it seems, are hostile youth and hostile minorities.

Thursday night's "Hawaii Five-O" put together a piece about a faked kidnapping that turned into the real thing, but they dressed it up with the character of a young singer who had lost communication with his millionaire father.

"Ironside" started out with the fatal knife of the owner of a shop hit by looters. But the murder was almost incidental to the tensions built up involving Negro extremists and one especially angry militant charged with the crime. A bit about white extremists also was thrown in.

Extend Jackie's Guard For Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to provide Mrs. John F. Kennedy with Secret Service protection until her death or she remarries.

The action, subject to House approval, would extend the same protection to her children until they reach the age of 16.

Existing law calls for Secret Service protection for the widow of a president for four years after he dies in office. The four years expired in Mrs. Kennedy's case November 1967. Protection since then has been on a year to year basis.

Strike At OU Nearly Certain

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — "The possibility of a strike at this time is very great," the president of the public employees union at Ohio University said Thursday night.

The union leader, Oscar McGee, made the remark after union negotiators met with university officials in Lancaster. He said the some 900 members of Local 1699 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees would be called to a meeting Saturday to decide what action to take in the labor dispute.

The major issue, union spokesmen said, is the university's insistence on using an outside janitorial service at the new campus convocation center.

OSU Students Stage Protest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 200 Ohio State University students staged a noon - hour rally Thursday in front of the university administration building.

The rally was addressed by Elliot Soloway, a student who claimed that some names of university students were being sent to their Selective Service boards for draft reclassification.

Circleville Elks Seek International Plane Hijack Treaty

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

At this moment the country of Czechoslovakia is under military siege by communist Russia. The people of that country are confronted with Russian tanks and troops. They look into the muzzles of loaded guns and are threatened with fixed bayonets. Their basic freedoms are in jeopardy.

At this very moment American boys are fighting a communist enemy in Vietnam. They wallow in the muck and slime of the jungle floor. Some shed their blood into the ooze into which they fall. Their lives are being sacrificed on that altar known as Freedom.

At this very moment there are loyal boys experiencing the same hell in those jungles and for the same reason — to preserve freedom for their people back home.

At the present there sits on a lot on 324 South Washington Street in Circleville a house-trailer that belongs to a local G.I. This lot is not zoned for a trailer, therefore the owner and those on whose lot it rests are being pressured into moving it. This is so even though it is to remain there only until the termination of the lad's service. It is there for one reason — to take the drain off of a meager paycheck.

Granted that perhaps the trailer is not sitting where it is supposed to be, that is, according to the rules of our zoning ordinance, yet it in no way poses a threat to our basic freedoms — those freedoms which its owner is endeavoring to preserve by serving in the armed forces of our country.

If we detest the stand taken by dissenters, the draft-card burners and others of their ilk — if we oppose communism and see it as a threat to those freedoms we hold so dear — then the sight of that trailer on S. Washington St. shouldn't bother us in the least. It is the property of a lad gone away to serve his country. Our Country!

Pet Cougar Rouses Storm

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William and Cheryl Howey say their pet cougar, Tiberius, is defanged, declawed, their house pet since he was only 5 months old. "tame as a kitten and wouldn't hurt anyone." They want permission to keep him.

But 43 neighbors have signed a petition saying he scares them, makes noise and reduces property values.

The case came up before the county zoning board Thursday. "Suppose the cat escaped and somebody ran into it at midnight," said Commissioner Louis Kanaster, "they might die of a heart attack."

His colleagues took the matter under advisement.

Slate Annual Inspection

The annual inspection of the Circleville BPO Elks Lodge will be conducted Tuesday by W. F. Kessler of Lancaster, South Central District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler.

Chester McKenzie, exalted ruler of the local lodge, and his corps of officers will initiate 12 candidates in conjunction with the inspection.

Kessler succeeds Leo Morgan of Circleville as South Central District Deputy.

A past exalted ruler of the Lancaster Lodge and a member of the Board of Trustees, Kessler has held various other offices in the Lancaster organization and the state, having served as third vice president of the Ohio Elks Assn. He is associated with Anchor Hocking Glass Corporation.

Kessler is an honorary life member of Lancaster Lodge and in 1966 received the citation as Elk of the Year from Lancaster Lodge.

He has served as secretary and activities chairman of the South Central District. He and his wife Jennie have one son.

Cincy Crime Rate Down

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police Chief Jacob W. Schott has his fingers crossed when he speaks of a report showing a downward trend in the city's crime rate.

"It's an encouraging thing that we hope will continue,"

A report released jointly by Schott and Safety Director Henry Sandman Thursday show that from Sept. 8 to Oct. 8 major crimes totaled 484 — compared to 564 during the same period in 1967.

"This is the first time in the last three or four years that there has been a significant decrease," Schott said. "And it is significant in the light that in most cities there is a constant increase in the crime rate."

Coal Strikers Still Off Job

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Light picketing continued at 35 mining and loading facilities in Ohio and the West Virginia panhandle today as the national coal strike entered its third day.

The idled mines furnish about 60 per cent of Ohio's soft coal tonnage. More than 8,000 union miners are off the job.

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — "What we are afraid of," said an airline official in London, "is that some day some silly so-and-so will poke a gun into the back of the neck of a pilot and order him into an airport that he doesn't know, or that isn't equipped to handle his plane. He'll be forced to risk a landing, plunk down his plane and crash."

He was talking about the score of hijackings or attempted hijackings that have taken place this year.

So far there have been no proven fatalities on Western commercial airlines as a result of hijackings. All planes seized on scheduled flights have been returned. But pilots, airline officials, lawyers, insurance specialists, governments and others concerned with civil aviation are searching for a solution to the growing problem.

The consensus among them is that the only defense devised so far is a piece of paper—an international convention pledging nations to return hijacked planes and the people aboard, and to assist where possible in prosecuting the hijacker.

Progress is slow. The convention was drafted five years ago at an international meeting in Tokyo. Prompted by this summer's hijacking of an Israeli plane, the September meeting of the International Civil Aviation Organization urged its member nations to ratify the convention and bring it into force. The United States promised to do so by the end of the year. Cuba, the frequent destination of hijackers, supported the plan.

The International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations, based in London, wants an even stronger agreement to permit prosecution under something like the maritime piracy laws. This seems unlikely and might not do much good. The U.S. Congress applied the piracy laws to aircraft hijacks in 1961, but aerial pirates usually flee to politically friendly states and are not extradited.

Although hijacking has overtones of piracy, it is something new. The crime itself has no precise international definition. It usually lacks the element of outright robbery that characterized pirates seeking plunder. Most hijackers simply want to get from one point to another. They cannot sell a stolen commercial airliner.

This point was brought home to the Arabs who hijacked the Israeli plane in July and ordered the crew to fly it to Algiers.

Underwriters at Lloyds, where much of the world's airline insurance is written, passed the word to Algeria that the Israelis would get a new plane for their insurance money anyway. If anyone had tried to use the 707 internationally it might have been seized by court order at its first port of call. Eventually the Israeli got it back.

The problems of punishing hijackers are clouded by the legal concept of territoriality—which means that states punish crimes taking place on their own territory. Hijacking often takes place over international waters. The hijacker soon leaves the flying piece of territory on which he commits his crime.

Under extradition laws, his crime—often defined as endangering the safety of a flight or only a simple assault—may not be regarded as serious enough to warrant his return home. Cuban officials have refused to discuss what happened to the hijackers who flew there.

Woman Freed After Abduction By 4 Bandits

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 24-year-old woman was released Thursday night after being abducted by four heavily armed men who robbed an East Side auto parts store and four of its customers.

Karen Frank, 24, of Cleveland Heights, who called police from a Euclid Avenue restaurant about 40 minutes after being abducted from the Forest City Auto Parts store on Buckeye Road, was unharmed.

She said the gunmen gave her $5 and threatened to shoot her if she looked back to get the car license number. She didn't look.

Mrs. Frank and her husband, Carl, 26, entered the store while the robbery was taking place.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:
At this moment the country of Czechoslovakia is under military siege by communist Russia. The people of that country are confronted with Russian tanks and troops. They look into the muzzles of loaded guns and are threatened with fixed bayonets. Their basic freedoms are in jeopardy.

Saxbe Rips LBJ Policy

CLEVELAND (AP) — William B. Saxbe said here today that President Johnson's administration has pursued a vague and ambiguous policy that could invite disaster in the Middle East.

Speaking at a breakfast meeting of Northeastern Ohio Jewish leaders, the Republican U.S. Senate candidate said another Arab-Israeli war may be in the making.

"I believe Israel cannot survive without the help of the United States," Saxbe said.

He said that if Russia will not observe a limitation of arms shipments to the Middle East the United States should be prepared to promptly supply arms and jet fighters to Israel, and other friendly nations of the region.

"The incredible lack of American response toward the increased Soviet pressure in the Middle East has turned a military victory into a diplomatic defeat," Saxbe said.

Chrysler To Expand Perrysburg Plant
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Chrysler Corp. announced plans Thursday for a multimillion-dollar expansion of its machining plant at suburban Perrysburg.

General Manager A. James Savage said the expansion will double the plant's size and increase total employment to 5,000.

can boys are fighting a communist enemy in Vietnam. They wallow in the muck and slime of the jungle floor. Some shed their blood into the ooze into which they fall. Their lives are being sacrificed on that altar known as Freedom.

At this very moment there are local boys experiencing the same hell in those jungles and for the same reason — to preserve freedom for their people back home.

At the present there sits on a lot on 324 South Washington Street in Circleville a house-trailer that belongs to a local G.I. This lot is not zoned for a trailer, therefore the owner and those on whose lot it rests are being pressured into moving it. This is so even though it is to remain there only until the termination of the lad's service. It is there for one reason — to take the drain off of a meager paycheck.

Granted that perhaps the trailer is not sitting where it is supposed to be, that is, according to the rules of our zoning ordinance, yet it in no way poses a threat to our basic freedoms — those freedoms which its owner is endeavoring to preserve by serving in the armed forces of our country.

If we detest the stand taken by dissenters, the draft-card burners and others of their ilk — if we oppose communism and see it as a threat to those freedoms we hold so dear — then the sight of that trailer on S. Washington St. shouldn't bother us in the least. It is the property of a lad gone away to serve his country. Our Country!

Pet Cougar Rouses Storm

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William and Cheryl Howey say their pet cougar, Tiberius, is defanged, declawed, their house pet since he was only 5 months old, "tame as a kitten and wouldn't hurt anyone." They want permission to keep him.

But 43 neighbors have signed a petition saying he scares them, makes noise and reduces property values.

His colleagues took the matter under advisement.

Circleville Elks Slate Annual Inspection

The annual inspection of the Circleville BPO Elks Lodge will be conducted Tuesday by W. F. Kessler of Lancaster, South Central District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler.

Chester McKenzie, exalted ruler of the local lodge, and his corps of officers will initiate 12 candidates in conjunction with the inspection.

Kessler succeeds Leo Morgan of Circleville as South Central District Deputy.

A past exalted ruler of the Lancaster Lodge and a member of the Board of Trustees, Kessler has held various other offices in the Lancaster organization and the state, having served as third vice president of the Ohio Elks Assn. He is associated with Anchor Hocking Glass Corporation.

Kessler is an honorary life member of Lancaster Lodge and in 1966 received the citation as Elk of the Year from Lancaster Lodge.

He has served as secretary and activities chairman of the South Central District. He and his wife Jennie have one son.

Cincy Crime Rate Down

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police Chief Jacob W. Schott has his fingers crossed when he speaks of a report showing a downward trend in the city's crime rate.

"It's an encouraging thing that we hope will continue," a report released jointly by Schott and Safety Director Henry Sandman Thursday show that from Sept. 8 to Oct. 8 major crimes totaled 484 — compared to 564 during the same period in 1967.

"This is the first time in the last three or four years that there has been a significant decrease," Schott said. "And it is significant in the light that in most cities there is a constant increase in the crime rate."

Coal Strikers Still Off Job
ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Light picketing continued at 35 mining and loading facilities in Ohio and the West Virginia panhandle today as the national coal strike entered its third day.

The idled mines furnish about 60 per cent of Ohio's soft coal tonnage. More than 8,000 union miners are off the job.

Seek International Plane Hijack Treaty

Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — "What we are afraid of," said an airline official in London, "is that some day some silly so-and-so will poke a gun into the back of the neck of a pilot and order him into an airport that he doesn't know, or that isn't equipped to handle his plane. He'll be forced to risk a landing, plunk down his plane and crash."

He was talking about the score of hijackings or attempted hijackings that have taken place this year.

So far there have been no proven fatalities on Western commercial airlines as a result of hijackings. All planes seized on scheduled flights have been returned. But pilots, airline officials, lawyers, insurance specialists, governments and others concerned with civil aviation are searching for a solution to the growing problem.

The consensus among them is that the only defense devised so far is a piece of paper—an international convention pledging nations to return hijacked planes and the people aboard, and to assist where possible in prosecuting the hijacker.

Progress is slow. The convention was drafted five years ago at an international meeting in Tokyo. Prompted by this summer's hijacking of an Israeli plane, the September meeting of the International Civil Aviation Organization urged its member nations to ratify the convention and bring it into force. The United States promised to do so by the end of the year. Cuba, the frequent destination of hijackers, supported the plan.

The International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations, based in London, wants an even stronger agreement to permit prosecution under something like the maritime piracy laws. This seems unlikely and might not do much good. The U.S. Congress applied the piracy laws to aircraft hijacks in 1961, but aerial pirates usually flee to politically friendly states and are not extradited.

Although hijacking has overtones of piracy, it is something new. The crime itself has no precise international definition. It usually lacks the element of outright robbery that characterized pirates seeking plunder. Most hijackers simply want to get from one point to another. They cannot sell a stolen commercial airliner.

This point was brought home to the Arabs who hijacked the Israeli plane in July and ordered the crew to fly it to Algeria.

Underwriters at Lloyds, where much of the world's airline insurance is written, passed the word to Algeria that the Israelis would get a new plane for their insurance money anyway.

If anyone had tried to use the 707 internationally it might have been seized by court order at its first port of call. Eventually the Israelis got it back.

The problems of punishing hijackers are clouded by the legal concept of territoriality—which means that states punish crimes taking place on their own territory. Hijacking often takes place over international waters. The hijacker soon leaves the flying piece of territory on which he commits his crime.

Woman Freed After Abduction By 4 Bandits

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 24-year-old woman was released Thursday night after being abducted by four heavily armed men who robbed an East Side auto parts store and four of its customers.

Karen Frank, 24, of Cleveland Heights, who called police from a Euclid Avenue restaurant about 40 minutes after being abducted from the Forest City Auto Parts store on Buckeye Road, was unharmed.

She said the gunmen gave her $5 and threatened to shoot her if she looked back to get the car license number. She didn't look.

Mrs. Frank and her husband, Carl, 26, entered the store while the robbery was taking place.

I highly recommend to all the voters of Pickaway County, both Republicans and Democrats, that they vote for RUSSELL H. VOLKEMA for United States Congress. He is an honorable and able man who is considerate, yet independent and constructive in his thinking. Russ is a person who will act reasonably and cautiously on all matters.

CHS Ready For School Lunch Week

By PATTY GLITT
National School Lunch Week is being observed from Oct. 13 to 19. This week is set aside for the promotion of good lunches for students and to encourage the buying of school lunches.

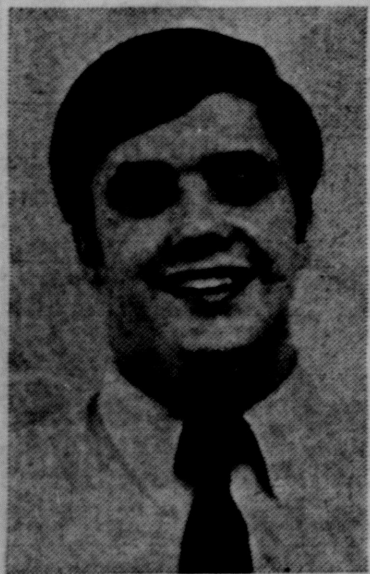

Menus are prepared from suggestions by the State Department of Education. Lunches are prepared with the thought in mind of each child getting a balanced diet. In some cases, the lunch served at school may be the only well-balanced meal some students have a day.

The school lunch program is nonprofit even though a subsidy of four cents is received for each student lunch purchased. For this reason, teachers pay a few pennies more. Four cents is also received for each extra carton of milk sold. Government surplus food received includes turkey, chicken, lard, butter, flour, peanut butter, dried milk, rolled oats and wheat, ground beef, cheese and rice.

Last year over 350,000 lunches were served as well as half million cartons of milk. The senior high school averages a little over 400 lunches per day.

A la carte, having a variety of foods to choose from, is discouraged by the subsidized lunch program. Students would be inclined to spend more money than needed and would not be as apt to choose a balanced lunch.

Student Of the Week

DAVID BOWERS

By JIM BALLOU

David Bowers, 17, resides at 815 Arbor Road with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Bowers, two brothers and a sister.

Neither Circleville High School nor the students are new to Dave. He attended Circleville city schools until his sophomore year when he transferred to Culver Military Academy.

Dave is now enrolled in the college prep course and lists government and English as his favorite subjects. After graduation his plans include entering pre-med at Miami University of Ohio.

Dave's reaction to being interviewed was, "It feels very funny being interviewed as a new student having lived in Circleville all my life and attending Circleville schools ten out of the last twelve years."

His feelings concerning the new high school are as follows: "I enjoy the new high school and think the facilities are great with my only gripe being about the closed lunch period."

Dave's hobbies include sports cars, pocket billiards and "soul" music.

Senior GAA Has 16 New Members

By DEBBIE HEISKELL

Senior GAA has sixteen new members. They are Karen Matesky, Chris Stanton, Marilyn Penn, Tricia Brackett, Mary Beth Rhoades, Patty Davis, Emily Moon, Elizabeth Moon, Monica Salyers, Susan Moore, Sandy Ankrom, Jodi Steele, Betsy Bach, Lissa Rihl, Kim Graham and Robin Spear.

Initiation for the new GAA members was held in the cafeteria at 7:30 p.m., September 23. Attending the meeting were previously appointed big sisters for the new members.

For the next three days following the meeting, all new members wore two different shoes, blouses on backwards, red lipstick, teased hair, knee socks rolled to ankles, and some had weed corsages, as part of their initiation.

To be eligible for membership an average of 2.0 is required. Intramurals and bowling leagues are among the many activities sponsored by the club.

CHS Stooze Club Elects Officers For 1968-69

By RICK SIMS and FRANK CARTER

Newly elected officers of Stooze Club, an organization founded to promote athletics, were announced at the annual banquet in May.

Mark Ralston, 1968-69 president, resides at 564 N. Pickaway St. with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ralston. He is enrolled in the classical course of study and has been in the club for three years.

Mark is a member of the football and wrestling teams. When asked his opinion of the Stooze Club he replied, "It is the best club and perhaps the hardest working, also."

Vice president, Mike Young, lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Young, of 445 N. Pickaway St. Mike has been a member of the club for three years and is enrolled in the general course.

His outside activities include golf and basketball. He feels that the Stooze Club is greatest by far in school.

Phil Diehl, treasurer, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Diehl of Route 3. Phil has been in the Stooze Club for two years, is active in football, basketball, track and is parliamentarian of the Senior Class. He is enrolled in the classical course.

Phil feels it is a good organization for athletes and is useful in promoting sports.

Dave Horst, secretary, resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Court Reporter Demonstrates Stenotyping

By MRS. LOIS BROBST

The advanced shorthand class of Circleville High School spent the afternoon of Sept. 24, at the Pickaway County Courthouse seeing a demonstration on the stenotype machine by Miss Dorothy Updyke, court reporter.

The class had expressed a desire to know something about this machine and the visit was arranged by Mrs. Lois Brobst, teacher of the class.

Debbie Smith stated "It really did amaze me to watch her work the machine. In fact, I am now thinking seriously about going to business school and learning how to operate this type of machine and work toward a job as court stenographer. I would really like to make as good an impression on students as Miss Updyke did on me."

"It was good to learn that job opportunities for stenotype operators are numerous and there is such a great demand for them. This occupation involves a lot of hard work, but a good salary, and this sounds good to me," said Linda Caull.

"I was amazed by the speed of the actual machine and the way Miss Updyke worked it so naturally. With this machine one could take dictation at 300 words a minute without really pushing. Opportunities in this field are wide," remarked Valerie Valentine.

Karen Davis thinks it is so fascinating that she feels the high school should furnish a machine for senior girls who are interested in this profession.

Karen Rader thinks it would be much easier to learn this small machine of 24 keys, that will do 300 words a minute, than to struggle with shorthand and be able to do only about half this.

STOOZE CLUB OFFICERS — Officers for Stooze Club for the 1968-69 school year were announced at the May banquet. They are (left to right) Dave Horst, secretary; Jim Samuel, court justice; Phil Diehl, treasurer; Mark Ralston, president; John Schroeder, sergeant-at-arms; Mike Henderson, chaplain; and Mike Young, vice president.

David T. Horst, Route 2. He is enrolled in the college preparatory course and has been a member of Stooze for one year. Dave feels that the club "does more for the school than any other club."

Sergeant-at-arms is John Schroeder who resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schroeder, at 323 Wood Lane. John has been in the club for two years. He commented, "The Stooze Club attempts to help the athlete by direct means."

Council Purpose 42 Years Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an excerpt from the "Red and Black" of Feb. 25, 1924.

"The purpose of the council is not to work against the faculty, or even to work separate from it, but it is a representative group to co-operate with the faculty for the best interests of the school.

"The council members have pledged themselves to uphold the best interests of the school, and they are exerting an effort to bring about the necessary conditions that will make CHS a more creditable institution. The council did not pledge their efforts as individuals but as representatives of their fellow students.

"We hope that everyone will realize that the voice of the representative is the voice of the students. Please keep in mind that the success of this movement does not depend entirely upon the council members, but it depends upon every individual in the building.

"We are not trying something that has never been attempted before, but we are merely falling in line with other progressive schools."

Mrs. James Henderson, at 138 Park Place. Mike is enrolled in the classical course and has been in Stooze for two years. His opinion of the club is that "Stooze Club makes the most money, mainly by the hard work of the members."

Supreme Court Justice is Jim Samuel, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Samuel of 890 N. Court St. Jim is enrolled in the classical course and has been a member of Stooze for three years. He participates in football, wrestling and track.

Jim rules on members whose actions go against the constitution of the Stooze Club.

The new Stooze members taken in on Sept. 15 are Dave Bowers, Brent Liston, Max Wagner, Tom Bowers, Gary Spangler and Dick Radcliff.

Pumpkin Show Is Special Time Of Year

By JACKIE ULLMAN

That special time of the year when pumpkins dominate the thoughts of all Roundtowners is fast approaching. This time next week the Pumpkin Show, the greatest free show on earth, will be in full swing.

For four glorious days Circleville will be transformed into a child's wonderland. Floats, bands and beautiful girls will be on parade. Concession stands and rides will line the streets.

However the Pumpkin Show is not just for children. There is something about it which seems to entrance people of all ages. Its magic keeps people returning who have long moved from our beautiful, little town.

Thus, Pumpkin Show is a happy time; a time to try new delicacies, to see old friends and make new ones, and to enjoy living. For these reasons Roundtowners greatly anticipate the coming of this, their favorite time of the year.

Club Notes

By MINDY WOOD and RUTH RIEHL
CURTAIN CALLERS

Curtain Callers will be performing two shows during Pumpkin Show on Oct. 17 and 19 at 9 p.m. on E. Franklin St. They are now in the process of making a new demerit system and organizing a skit to be performed at our Homecoming.

SENIOR GAA

Senior GAA members will go on a hike at Old Man's Cave on Oct. 13. Girls' intramurals have now started and the Senior GAA sponsored a pep section at home games which was a big success.

SCIENCE CLUB

Members of the Science Club met Oct. 1. John Randall and Dick Irish from the Engineering Speaking Society at Ohio State University were guest speakers. Science Club members will sponsor a bake sale on Nov. 5.

HI-Y

Hi-Y members are planning to take pictures during Pumpkin Show and they are preparing for Homecoming participation. There was a special meeting of advisors and officers held on Thursday. Yearly dues are being collected now.

STOOZE CLUB

The Stooze Club members met last Thursday at John Schroeder's to discuss their Pumpkin Show booth.

DECA CLUB

Senior and Junior DECA members are busy making Pumpkin Burgers for the Pumpkin Show. DECA is also holding a paper drive. If anyone has papers they would like to donate, please call Sally Long 474-6680.

TRIPLE TRIO

BAND

During Pumpkin Show both the CHS band and choir will be quite busy. On Wednesday at 6 p.m. the choir will present a concert. Also performing at this time will be Triple Trio and Boys Ensemble. The band will march in five parades. On Thursday at 2 p.m. the band will give a concert.

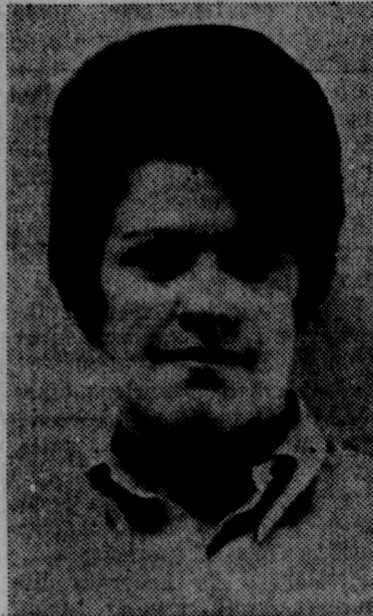

Last Saturday the CHS band participated in the marching band competition at West Jefferson High School. The band brought home a plaque for taking second place.

By DAVE SADLER

Mrs. Larry Eicher is practically a native. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Immel, she was reared and schooled in Kingston.

MRS. LARRY EICHER

Mrs. Eicher, a graduate of Ohio State University, teacher in the mathematical department and is one of the first teachers to present to her students the base eight system.

During high school, Mrs. Eicher was a member of the track team, volleyball team, Tri-Hi-Y and cheerleading squad. While at OSU she participated in the Buckeye Band. With this full schedule she still found time to read and swim.

Of all the honors she has won, two stand out more than any others. First an honor scholarship which she received for her freshman year at OSU; and second, athletically inclined, she placed in Ross County for her track team.

Mrs. Eicher's first impression of the school is that it is beautiful and all the kids seem to be great. She follows up her impression with her teaching philosophy, "Learning can be fun if everyone cooperates," she says.

Mrs. Eicher's main goal is to learn from past mistakes.

CHS Calendar

By RICK SIMS

Oct. 11 — Football game with Miami Trace

Oct. 12 — Reserve football game at Miami Trace. Junior High game at Lancaster-Stansbury.

Oct. 15 — Cross Country meet at Fairfield Union.

Oct. 15 — 1 p.m. Mrs. Corinne Wilson, admissions counselor, Wilmington College, will be at CHS to meet with interested seniors and parents.

1:30 p.m. Mr. Lyle Moeckel, director of admissions of Lake Erie College will meet with interested senior girls and parents.

Oct. 18 — Football game at Washington Court House.

Oct. 26 — Homecoming Dance.

Booths Readied For Pumpkin Show

By BILL JOYCE

Some of the different booths at the Pumpkin Show run by high school clubs and organizations have become landmarks here.

The Stooze Club booth, located on the corner of Court and Main Sts., and the DeMolay booth, on S. Court St., have been in their respective places for many years. Members of the Key Club can be seen working in the Kiwanis booth which is also located at the corner of Court and Main Sts.

The DECA club is the newest addition this year. Their booth will be located on North Court Street.

Alumnus Talks On Air Force Experiences

By JUDY ROSE

Bruce Barnes, a 1966 Circleville High School graduate, spoke to several CHS classes Oct. 1. His talk was based upon his Air Force career and the experiences he has had in Korea.

Bruce's home base is in Syracuse, N.Y., a town of about 12,000 persons.

A short time after the Pueblo incident he was sent to Florida for 38 days to learn hand to hand combat.

On March 22, he left for Ohson, Korea. There were 1500 men from all over the US working in civil engineering. On April 18, he was transferred to Kwangju. It took 32 hours to travel 211 miles because of the mountainous and curvy gravel roads.

Barnes and his companions could not write home to tell what they were doing because their duties were classified. But within seven months, a base was built. During that time, the men slept in two-man tents.

Bruce was stationed 35 miles north of the southernmost tip of Korea and could reach the DMZ or North Korea within seven minutes, if called upon to do so.

He said that the service men in Korea call it "Baby Viet Nam." Bruce learned Korean karate while he was overseas. He said that it is taught in school as a defense weapon, but it is against the law to use it in the U.S. as an offensive weapon.

Bruce commented on the school system, saying they were like ours, with 12 years of primary, middle and high school. He also spoke of the money in Korea, called a won. It is a federal offense if you are caught with American dollars.

Circleville School Menu

Monday — beef barbeque sandwich, buttered corn, fruit, brownie, milk.

Tuesday — chili con carne, cabbage and carrot salad, sliced pineapple, french bread, butter, milk.

CHS Stoooge Club Elects Officers For 1968-69

By RICK SIMS and FRANK CARTER

Newly elected officers of Stoooge Club, an organization founded to promote athletics, were announced at the annual banquet in May.

Mark Ralston, 1968-69 president, resides at 564 N. Pickaway St. with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ralston. He is enrolled in the classical course of study and has been in the club for three years.

Mark is a member of the football and wrestling teams. When asked his opinion of the Stoooge Club he replied, "It is the best club and perhaps the hardest working, also."

Vice president, Mike Young, lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Young, of 445 N. Pickaway St. Mike has been a member of the club for three years and is enrolled in the general course.

His outside activities include golf and basketball. He feels that the Stoooge Club is greatest by far in school.

Phil Diehl, treasurer, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Diehl of Route 3. Phil has been in the Stoooge Club for two years, is active in football, basketball, track and is parliamentarian of the Senior Class. He is enrolled in the classical course.

Phil feels it is a good organization for athletes and is useful in promoting sports.

Dave Horst, secretary, resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs.

By MRS. LOIS BROBST

The advanced shorthand class of Circleville High School spent the afternoon of Sept. 24, at the Pickaway County Courthouse seeing a demonstration on the stenotype machine by Miss Dorothy Updyke, court reporter.

The class had expressed a desire to know something about this machine and the visit was arranged by Mrs. Lois Brobst, teacher of the class.

Debbie Smith stated "It really did amaze me to watch her work the machine. In fact, I am now thinking seriously about going to business school and learning how to operate this type of machine and work toward a job as court stenographer. I would really like to make as good an impression on students as Miss Updyke did on me."

"It was good to learn that job opportunities for stenotype operators are numerous and there is such a great demand for them. This occupation involves a lot of hard work, but a good salary, and this sounds good to me," said Linda Caudill.

"I was amazed by the speed of the actual machine and the way Miss Updyke worked it so naturally. With this machine one could take dictation at 300 words a minute without really pushing. Opportunities in this field are wide," remarked Valerie Valentine.

Karen Davis thinks it is so fascinating that she feels the high school should furnish a machine for senior girls who are interested in this profession.

Karen Rader thinks it would be much easier to learn this small machine of 24 keys, that will do 300 words a minute, than to struggle with shorthand and be able to do only about half this.

STOOGE CLUB OFFICERS — Officers for Stoooge Club for the 1968-69 school year were announced at the May banquet. They are (left to right) Dave Horst, secretary; Jim Samuel, court justice; Phil Diehl, treasurer; Mark Ralston, president; John Schroeder, sergeant-at-arms; Mike Henderson, chaplain; and Mike Young, vice president.

David T. Horst, Route 2. He is enrolled in the college preparatory course and has been a member of Stoooge for one year. Dave feels that the club "does more for the school than any other club."

Sergeant-at-arms is John Schroeder who resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schroeder, at 323 Wood Lane. John has been in the club for two years. He commented, "The Stoooge Club attempts to help the athlete by direct means."

Council Purpose 42 Years Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an excerpt from the "Red and Black" of Feb. 25, 1924.

"The purpose of the council is not to work against the faculty, or even to work separate from it, but it is a representative group to co-operate with the faculty for the best interests of the school.

"The council members have pledged themselves to uphold the best interests of the school, and they are exerting an effort to bring about the necessary conditions that will make CHS a more creditable institution. The council did not pledge their efforts as individuals but as representatives of their fellow students.

"We hope that everyone will realize that the voice of the representative is the voice of the students. Please keep in mind that the success of this movement does not depend entirely upon the council members, but it depends upon every individual in the building.

"We are not trying something that has never been attempted before, but we are merely falling in line with other progressive schools."

Pumpkin Show Is Special Time Of Year

By JACKIE ULLMAN

That special time of the year when pumpkins dominate the thoughts of all Roundtowners is fast approaching. This time next week the Pumpkin Show, the greatest free show on earth, will be in full swing.

For four glorious days Circleville will be transformed into a child's wonderland. Floats, bands and beautiful girls will be on parade. Concession stands and rides will line the streets.

However the Pumpkin Show is not just for children. There is something about it which seems to entrance people of all ages. Its magic keeps people returning who have long moved from our beautiful, little town.

Thus, Pumpkin Show is a happy time; a time to try new delicacies, to see old friends and make new ones, and to enjoy living. For these reasons Roundtowners greatly anticipate the coming of this, their favorite time of the year.

Club Notes

By MINDY WOOD and RUTH RIEHL

CURTAIN CALLERS
Curtain Callers will be performing two shows during Pumpkin Show on Oct. 17 and 19 at 9 p.m. on E. Franklin St. They are now in the process of making a new demerit system and organizing a skit to be performed at our Homecoming.

SENIOR GAA
Senior GAA members will go on a hike at Old Man's Cave on Oct. 13. Girls' intramurals have now started and the Senior GAA sponsored a pep section at home games which was a big success.

SCIENCE CLUB
Members of the Science Club met Oct. 1. John Randall and Dick Irish from the Engineering Speaking Society at Ohio State University were guest speakers. Science Club members will sponsor a bake sale on Nov. 5.

HI-Y
Hi-Y members are planning to take pictures during Pumpkin Show and they are preparing for Homecoming participation. There was a special meeting of advisors and officers held on Thursday. Yearly dues are being collected now.

STOOGE CLUB
The Stoooge Club members met last Thursday at John Schroeder's to discuss their Pumpkin Show booth.

DECA CLUB
Senior and Junior DECA members are busy making Pumpkin Burgers for the Pumpkin Show. DECA is also holding a paper drive. If anyone has papers they would like to donate, please call Sally Long 474-6680.

TRIPLE TRIO

BAND
During Pumpkin Show both the CHS band and choir will be quite busy. On Wednesday at 6 p.m. the choir will present a concert. Also performing at this time will be Triple Trio and Boys Ensemble. The band will march in five parades. On Thursday at 2 p.m. the band will give a concert.

Last Saturday the CHS band participated in the marching band competition at West Jefferson High School. The band brought home a plaque for taking second place.

By DAVE SADLER

Mrs. Larry Eicher is practically a native. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Immell, she was reared and schooled in Kingston.

MRS. LARRY EICHER

Mrs. Eicher, a graduate of Ohio State University, teacher in the mathematical department and is one of the first teachers to present to her students the base eight system.

During high school, Mrs. Eicher was a member of the track team, volleyball team, Tri-Hi-Y and cheerleading squad. While at OSU she participated in the Buckeye Band. With this full schedule she still found time to read and swim.

Of all the honors she has won, two stand out more than any others. First an honor scholarship which she received for her freshman year at OSU; and second, athletically inclined, she placed in Ross County for her track team.

Mrs. Eicher's first impression of the school is that it is beautiful and all the kids seem to be great. She follows up her impression with her teaching philosophy, "Learning can be fun if everyone cooperates," she says.

Mrs. Eicher's main goal is to learn from past mistakes.

CHS Calendar

By RICK SIMS

1:30 p.m. Mr. Lyle Moeckel, director of admissions of Lake Erie College will meet with interested senior girls and parents.
Oct. 18 — Football game at Washington Court House.
Oct. 26 — Homecoming Dance.

Booths Readied For Pumpkin Show

By BILL JOYCE

Some of the different booths at the Pumpkin Show run by high school clubs and organizations have become landmarks here.

The Stoooge Club booth, located on the corner of Court and Main Sts., and the DeMolay booth, on S. Court St., have been in their respective places for many years. Members of the Key Club can be seen working in the Kiwanis booth which is also located at the corner of Court and Main Sts.

The DECA club is the newest addition this year. Their booth will be located on North Court Street.

Alumnus Talks On Air Force Experiences

By JUDY ROSE

Bruce Barnes, a 1966 Circleville High School graduate, spoke to several CHS classes Oct. 1. His talk was based upon his Air Force career and the experiences he has had in Korea.

Bruce's home base is in Syracuse, N.Y., a town of about 12,000 persons.

A short time after the Pueblo incident he was sent to Florida for 38 days to learn hand to hand combat.

On March 22, he left for Osan, Korea. There were 1500 men from all over the US working in civil engineering. On April 18, he was transferred to Kwangju. It took 32 hours to travel 211 miles because of the mountainous and curvy gravel roads.

Barnes and his companions could not write home to tell what they were doing because their duties were classified. But within seven months, a base was built. During that time, the men slept in two-man tents.

Bruce was stationed 35 miles north of the southernmost tip of Korea and could reach the DMZ or North Korea within seven minutes, if called upon to do so.

He said that the service men in Korea call it "Baby Viet Nam." Bruce learned Korean karate while he was overseas. He said that it is taught in school as a defense weapon, but it is against the law to use it in the U.S. as an offensive weapon.

Bruce commented on the school system, saying they were like ours, with 12 years of primary, middle and high school. He also spoke of the money in Korea, called a wonnot. It is a federal offense if you are caught with American dollars.

Seniors Chose Class Emblems

By JAN CLIFTON

Last week the class of 1969 voted on their class colors, flower, motto and dues.

Powder blue and navy blue proved to be the favorite colors of the students with the daisy as the flower. The seniors chose, "It matters not what you are thought to be, but what you are", as their motto.

They agreed to pay 50 cents per semester as class dues.

Mrs. Goldie Byers entertained her bridge club on last Monday evening. Award winners were Mrs. Howard Egan and Mrs. Melvin Mettler.

Several from the Laurelville community attended the funeral of Postmaster Evelyn Kuhn of Gibsonville on Saturday. Mrs. Kuhn died on Thursday of an apparent heart attack. Business at the Gibsonville postoffice is being carried on for the present by personnel of the Logan postoffice.

Pleads Guilty To Holdups

CINCINNATI (AP) — Gus B. Evans Jr., the 24-year-old Cincinnati man the FBI says is the city's note-passing bandit, was returned to the custody of a U.S. marshal Thursday after he changed his plea to guilty on four counts of bank robbery and on one count of attempted robbery.

U.S. District Judge Davis S. Porter canceled bond of $5,000 under which Evans had been free.

However, Evans maintained his pleas of innocent in three other bank robberies.

The robberies, which occurred at various banks in the city between June 1967 and April 1968, were performed by a man who handed a teller a hand-written note which demanded money.

Evans was arrested June 25 shortly after a robbery attempt — also a note-passing job — was made on branch of the Fifth Third Union Trust Co.

Helping Hand Offered At Harvest Time

You don't really know how many friends you have until you need help. And Virgil and Hoyt Timmons found out this week that they have many friends. The two brothers underwent surgery recently and weren't able to do the heavy work of harvesting, so local business concerns, neighbors and friends from around the county gathered Tuesday to lend a helping hand in harvesting the crops and doing the fall planting.

STORING GRAIN — Farmers labored all day to complete the harvesting of the field and fill the storage bins. Grain not stored was sold to Pickaway Grain Company which paid for the meals of men who helped in the harvesting.

FIXING MACHINERY — Roger May (left) helps area farmers get their machinery in working order and ready for harvest. More than a dozen tractors, five harvestors and 30 wagons were used during the day.

Soviets Promise Czechs Most Troops Will Pull Out

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union has promised Czechoslovak officials that all but 10 per cent of the Warsaw Pact occupation forces will leave their country before its 50th anniversary of independence Oct. 28, diplomatic sources say.

The informants said Soviet officials made the promise in Moscow Thursday during negotiations on a treaty for temporary stationing of forces in Czechoslovakia. Czechoslovak Community party leaders have promised to sign such a treaty, legalizing the occupation that began Aug. 20.

By some current estimates, the withdrawal over the next two weeks would leave 50,000 or fewer troops—all Soviet except for command detachments from Poland, East Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria, the sources said.

Student Protest Quickly Ended

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP) — A manifesto entitled "coup," signed by the Redlands Students for a Democratic Society and calling for a massive strike for increased student freedoms and faculty salaries, was circulated at University of Redlands.

It turned out the SDS chapter at the private school is nonexistent. The strike wasn't much different. The 15 students who prepared for the sit-in at the administration building were joined by President Donald Ruthenberg—who invited them for soft drinks, thus ending the protest.

OK Postmaster
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Thursday confirmed the nomination of Frank Orlando as postmaster in Wickliffe, Ohio.

At Moscow's insistence, the Prague government has abandoned press freedom and other key features of the liberalization program it began in January. Prague radio said Thursday there is evidence that the Soviet Union is satisfied with Prague's latest commitments for a swing back to orthodox communism.

But there was evidence of public dissatisfaction in Czechoslovakia with the concessions made to the Kremlin. In a resolution addressed to Communist party leaders, 1,549 employees of the Prague Radio Communications Research Institute declared: "We reject categorically any legalization of the stay of foreign armies on our territory. Do not permit it at any price." The resolution urged the leaders to stick to their reform policies despite Soviet pressure.

Jiri Pelikan, ousted chief of Czechoslovakia's television system, made a farewell appearance on TV Thursday night and replied emotionally to Soviet charges that Czechoslovak television had been run by anti-Communists.

"I want to defend my honor as a Communist and citizen of this country if for no other reason than because I have bound my whole life to the ideas of socialism," Pelikan said.

Pelikan, credited with organizing underground radio and TV broadcasts during the first week of the occupation, was fired by the government, apparently under Soviet pressure.

Farmer Killed
LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Roscoe S. Porter, 70, Lima, was killed Thursday when his clothing became entangled in a corn-picking machine and he was pulled into the mechanism.

Mark Twain was the first author to use a typewriter for a manuscript of a book submitted for publication.

HARVESTING — Ernest Enoch and Ron List were among more than 25 area farmers who gathered together Tuesday to harvest the corn on the Timmons farm near Eliseville.

FALL PLANTING — After the harvest friends began the planting of winter wheat in an adjacent field. Gasoline used by the machinery was provided by Circleville Oil Company.

9 Persons Found Guilty Of Burning Draft Records

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Seven men and two women, all Roman Catholics, have been convicted of burning draft board records with homemade napalm.

A jury deliberated one hour and 20 minutes Thursday in U.S. District Court, and after the foreman read the guilty verdict to a hushed, crowded courtroom a spectator shouted: "Members of the jury you have just found Jesus Christ guilty."

Judge Roszel C. Thomsen ordered the courtroom cleared. Spectators moved into the halls, where they began singing, "We Shall Overcome." Outside the building they continued singing and held lighted candles as several dozen helmeted policemen looked on.

The defendants are the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan, 45, of Baltimore; Daniel Berrigan, 47, formerly an instructor at Cornell University; Thomas P. Lewis, 27, a Baltimore artist; David Darst, 26, a Christian Brother teacher in St. Louis Mo.; John Hogan, 33, a former Maryknoll brother; Maryknoll priest, and his wife Marjorie, 38, a former nun; George Mische, 31, a peace organizer from Washington, D.C., and Mary Moylan, 32, a nurse.

They were convicted of mutilating and destroying government records, hindering administration of the Selective Service Act and causing injury to government property. The charges stemmed from an incident May 17 at nearby Catonsville, Md.

Officer May Have Shot Other

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The bullet that wounded Toledo patrolman Thomas Warnka, 35, Wednesday may have come from another police officer's gun.

Acting Police Chief William Weiner said Thursday that Warnka might have been shot by Detective William Mosley, who reported firing his gun while chasing a 16-year-old boy accused of robbing a shoe store.

Police reported Wednesday finding a gun in the boy's possession. But Weiner said the weapon turned out to be a cap pistol. No other weapon has been found.

Clevelanders Are Critical Of Police

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A City Council committee which heard testimony critical of the police Thursday hears today from some members of the police force.

Called to testify today were three policemen, including Det. Frank J. Schaeffer, president of the Fraternal Order of Police here.

Many of the 18 witnesses who testified Thursday attacked the police.

The Rev. Roger Shoup, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian Church at East 79th Street and Euclid Avenue, said ministers of his church were concerned about "the presence of white racism within the police department."

"We cannot support those police who wilfully avoid assignments, who insult law-abiding citizens and who refuse to accept the discipline, the authority and the leadership of their commander-in-chief, the mayor of this city," he said.

Wilbur Grattan, representing the Circle of Afro-American Unity, demanded that "black people control the schools, the safety and the police in their community."

He said some policemen "feel they have a divine right to stand like colonial soldiers over the black community."

Attorney Stanley Tolliver said there was "obvious racism in the Cleveland police department."

Anton Krchmarek, a Communist Party leader here, urged establishment of a police review board.

Safety Director Joseph F. McManamon told councilmen an order went out last week to integrate all police cars on the East Side, breaking up the all-Negro teams used there.

Orient Man Wins Model Plane Contest

The sky was clear, all systems were go! The pilot stepped up, took the controls, the plane taxied down the runway and was in the air.

Despite the 56 inch wing span, this Skylark has all of the maneuverability of a larger full-sized model. It rolls, loops and dives like a beautiful bird in flight.

Engineman Fireman Kenneth Drummond of Orient, piloted the sleek red and white model to victory in a radio controlled air show at Ford Island Airfield, Hawaii, last month.

The fact that Drummond took first place in his first competitive flight is no accident. It is the result of hard, devoted work. He has been a model airplane buff for over two years, and has put in many hours of practice.

Kenneth started flying line controlled models, when he lived on a farm in Ohio. He and his younger brother, Roger, pooled their funds and bought a model. With the help of aviation magazines and perseverance they learned to operate this model.

Gradually he moved up to the more challenging and complicated planes. He made his first radio-controlled plane in the Navy Station barracks; saving money from his Seaman's pay to buy equipment from the base hobby shop.

Drummond, a tall, slim, quiet young man, had high hopes of becoming a Navy pilot, but his vision was too poor for Naval aviation standards. Despite this setback, he still is enthusiastic about flying, especially model flying. He doesn't own a car, so he packs his plane and equipment onto his bicycle and goes to Ford Island to practice new maneuvers.

When asked about his future model plans, Kenneth said, "I'm saving my money so that someday I'll be able to own a model jet, and fly higher and faster than I've flown before."

State Hospital Workers Strike

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Hawthorn State Hospital was struck shortly before midnight Thursday night by some 150 employees in a dispute over working conditions.

Pickets were set up at all three entrances to the institution, which is located in Sagamore Hills.

Members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees had threatened to strike the hospital last May over a series of grievances.

DELICATE DELIVERY — Kenneth Drummond of Orient steadies his plane on the basket of his bicycle as he leaves the Ford Island Airfield, Hawaii, after winning first place in a recent radio-controlled air show.

Booster Club Holds Drive

The Circleville High School band and the Band Booster Club will conduct a band membership drive and Tag Day from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 12.

Students, accompanied by adult boosters, will solicit door-to-door in the residential areas of the town while other students will ask for donations in the shopping centers. Membership cards will be issued, but there is no set fee for them, just your contribution.

Business establishments will be contacted next week by Booster Club members.

The purpose of the drive is to raise funds for new uniforms. Next year a band of 100 is anticipated and uniforms for this number will cost between $10-11,000, $5,000 of which is yet to be raised. Band members will be working towards this goal Saturday.

Blue Cross To Hike Benefits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The president of Blue Cross of Central Ohio announced Thursday that several benefits of Blue Cross-65 will be increased by 10 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969.

But Howard C. Franz said there will be no rate increase there will be no rate increase to cover the increased benefits.

Blue Cross-65 covers some of the gaps in the Medicare Part A Hospital Plan, Franz said.

The announcement followed a statement by Wilbur Cohen, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare that beginning Jan. 1, 1969, deductible and co-insurance amounts payable by Medicare beneficiaries would be increased 10 per cent.

Ten minutes early! The service of worship begins at eleven, and the Anderson family has had time to saunter a little . . . gratefully aware of the glorious autumn morning and the serene beauty of their church building. Afterwards, like Christians the world over, they will go home refreshed and inspired by God's Word, ready to meet whatever the week may bring.

Turning from self-service to God's service is never easy, but it is immeasurably worthwhile. When our hearts are completely God-centered, all other concerns fall into their proper places . . . and our lives become richer and more significant than our minds can imagine.

"Everything else can wait . . . but your search for God cannot wait." There is still time. Come to church this Sunday and share in the bounty of His strengthening love. It is yours for the asking.

Ten minutes early! The service of worship begins at eleven, and the Anderson family has had time to saunter a little... gratefully aware of the glorious autumn morning and the serene beauty of their church building. Afterwards, like Christians the world over, they will go home refreshed and inspired by God's Word, ready to meet whatever the week may bring.

Turning from self-service to God's service is never easy, but it is immeasurably worthwhile. When our hearts are completely God-centered, all other concerns fall into their proper places... and our lives become richer and more significant than our minds can imagine.

"Everything else can wait... but your search for God cannot wait." There is still time. Come to church this Sunday and share in the bounty of His strengthening love. It is yours for the asking.

Tigers Take Series With 4-1 Win Over Cardinals

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Willie Horton stood in the Detroit dugout watching Tiger catcher Bill Freehan settle under the pop fly.

When Freehan squeezed the last out poppin clinching Detroit's 4-1 seventh game victory and the world championship it set off a riotous celebration and meant a difference of about $4,000 a man for the Tigers.

Two innings earlier, Norm Cash and Horton had singled with two out against Bob Gibson, posing Detroit's first threat in the scoreless duel between the Cardinal ace and Mickey Lolich.

Then Jim Northrup hit a drive to center field. Curt Flood started in on the ball, then turned and stumbled. When Flood finally ran it down, Northrup had a triple and the Tigers were leading 2-0.

"We knew, with Mickey pitching so well, that if we could score, we'd beat him," said Cash. "Around the fifth or sixth inning we started getting good wood on the ball and we knew we'd break through. When we did, it was great."

Northrup, whose hit broke the tie, sympathized with Flood's problems on the ball. "It was slippery out there from the rain the day before," the Tiger center fielder said. "I knew I hit the ball well and that it had a chance to go for extra bases. When I wound up on third base and looked up at the scoreboard and saw those two runs up there, I knew we couldn't lose."

The turning point in the game may have been in the inning before the Tigers scored. Both Lou Brock and Curt Flood singled and both were picked off by Lolich.

Brock opened the Cardinal sixth with his record-tying 13th hit of the Series and, with a record eighth steal beckoning, he stepped off first farther and farther until Cash almost couldn't believe the size of his lead.

Smith, manager of the Tigers, may have earned even more. When John Fetzer, the club's owner, embraced him and called him "my manager of the year," Mayo smiled and said, "Just remember, my contract is up this year."

It's a cinch he'll get a fatter one for 1969.

Toledo Kicker Is 'Automatic'

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ken Crotts is a little guy who gets a "boot" out of football.

The University of Toledo's place kicking specialist has become the most prolific point-after-touchdown performer in college football.

You might say the 5-foot-9, 175-pound junior is automatic. At least, he hasn't missed yet and already has carved his name into the NCAA record book twice.

Last Saturday, in Toledo's loss to Ohio University, Crotts booted four extra points, running his string of successful placements to 54. That broke by two the standard of 52 set by Wayne Barfield of Florida from 1965-67.

"I felt tremendous pressure on that 52nd kick," Crotts confided. "My leg felt like wood when I was trying for the equalizer. But after I made it I was completely relaxed."

Crotts, who played offensive end in high school but sees no contact work with the Rockets, set his first NCAA mark as a sophomore.

He kicked 35 of 35 last year establishing a one season record. The old mark of 32 was set by Princeton's Charlie Gogolak in 1965.

Crotts, a product of Whiteford High School in Ottawa Lake, Mich., said he never had an overwhelming desire to be a kicker.

"My coach needed a kicker and I was willing to give it a try."

He was successful 62 of 91 times and caught the eye of Athletic Director and football coach Frank Lauterbur. Ottawa Lake is just across the Ohio line from Toledo.

Crotts does not get much chance trying for field goals for the high-scoring Rockets but has placed eight of 13 through the uprights.

During practice, he kicks from 40 yards and better, but not too consistently. His longest three-pointer was a 35-yarder.

How about a professional career for the 20-year-old accounting major?

Crotts is quick to credit teammate Dave Penn, a defensive back, who has held the ball for every one of his placements.

"The center and the holder are just as important as the kicker, if not more so," Crotts said.

"One little slip, anything over 1.5 seconds and you run a chance of it being blocked. Take as long as 1.7 seconds and it's sure to be."

Brock opened the Cardinal sixth with his record-tying 13th hit of the Series and, with a record eighth steal beckoning, he stepped off first farther and farther until Cash almost couldn't believe the size of his lead.

"I yelled for the ball," the Tiger first baseman explained. As Lolich threw, Brock took off and Cash fired to shortstop Mickey putout.

The play was duplicated moments later when Flood singled and Lolich picked him off, too. "Mickey just guessed right on that one," said Cash.

The Tigers then broke through against Gibson and became only the fourth team in Series history to win the title after being down three games to one. The others were the 1903 Boston Red Sox in a nine-game Series and the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates and 1958 New York Yankees in seven-game sets. Detroit was an 8-1 underdog after dropping three of the first four.

Lolich, who pitched a five-hitter for his third Series victory, earned the car awarded to the most valuable player. Mayo

Smith, manager of the Tigers, may have earned even more. When John Fetzer, the club's owner, embraced him and called him "my manager of the

Toledo Kicker Is 'Automatic'

By HAL PARIS Associated Press Sports Writer TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Ken Crots is a little guy who gets a "boot" out of football.

The University of Toledo's place kicking specialist has become the most prolific point-after-touchdown performer in college football.

You might say the 5-foot-9, 175-pound junior is automatic. At least, he hasn't missed yet and already has carved his name into the NCAA record book twice.

Last Saturday, in Toledo's loss to Ohio University, Crots booted four extra points, running his string of successful placements to 54. That broke by two the standard of 52 set by Wayne Barfield of Florida from 1965-67.

"I felt tremendous pressure on that 52nd kick," Crots confided. "My leg felt like wood when I was trying for the equalizer. But after I made it I was completely relaxed."

Crots, who played offensive end in high school but sees no contact work with the Rockets, set his first NCAA mark as a sophomore.

He kicked 35 of 35 last year establishing a one season record. The old mark of 32 was set by Princeton's Charlie Gogolak in 1965.

Crots, a product of Whiteford High School in Ottawa Lake, Mich., said he never had an overwhelming desire to be a kicker.

"My coach needed a kicker and I was willing to give it a try."

He was successful 62 of 91 times and caught the eye of Athletic Director and football coach Frank Lauterbur. Ottawa Lake is just across the Ohio line from Toledo.

Crots does not get much chance trying for field goals for the high-scoring Rockets but has placed eight of 13 through the uprights.

During practice, he kicks from 40 yards and better, but not too consistently. His longest three-pointer was a 35-yarder.

How about a professional career for the 20-year-old accounting major?

Crots is quick to credit teammate Dave Penn, a defensive back, who has held the ball for every one of his placements.

"The center and the holder are just as important as the kicker, if not more so," Crots said.

Meet The Tigers

Frank Carter (26) and Mike Smith (22) are two senior half-backs on the Circleville High School football team. Carter, who weighs 144 pounds, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Haynes, 1075 Georgia Road. Smith, who at 126 pounds is the smallest Tiger, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smith.

Mickey Lolich Series Hero With 3 Wins For Tigers

By MIKE RATHER

Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — It's 9:30 Wednesday night when suddenly there is a knock on the door. Mickey Lolich answers it, and watches with a quizzical look on his face as two men entered carrying a machine. At the same time, the good doctor leads Lolich to the bed and begins wiring his body.

"It looked like," said Lolich, "they were trying to make me a Frankenstein monster."

Instead, they made the hero of the 1968 World Series, for the strange-looking machine relaxed the muscles in his pitching arm enough so that, with only two days rest, he was able to pitch Detroit to a 4-1 victory over St. Louis in Thursday's decisive seventh game.

"The machine is a weird looking thing," the champagne-drenched Lolich said afterward in the Detroit dressing room. "It's some kind of electric treatment monster. They hook all these wires up to you along with four wet sponge rubber pads on the front and back of the shoulder. I thought I might get electrocuted at any time."

"It feels like someone is grabbing and squeezing the tissues in your arm," he continued. "But the doctor said it would cause my muscles to relax, and when I went out to the bullpen I felt like a million dollars."

He looked like it to the Tigers as he stopped the Cardinals on five hits, won his third game of the seven-game set and achieved the distinction of ending Bob Gibson's string of Series victories at seven.

But you have to go back to a week ago Thursday and his first start to get a full appreciation of what the likeable 28-year-old left-hander achieved in practically singlehandedly pitching Detroit to its first world championship in 23 years.

In game 2, he went all the way in a six-hit, 8-1 victory—and also hit a homer—that squared the Series 1-1, after Gibson had put the Cardinals one-up by beating 31-game winner Denny McLain in their first confrontation.

Then, Monday, in game 5, with the Tigers down three games to one, Lolich gave up three runs in the first inning but hung on to start the Tigers' comeback with another route-going performance in a 5-3 triumph.

Finally, on Thursday, Lolich went back to the mound with just two days' rest and put together a masterpiece marred only by Mike Shannon's two-out homer in the ninth.

Handpicker Picks Rams Over Packers

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — The first real big game of the pro football season matches the Los Angeles Rams and the Green Bay Packers at Milwaukee Sunday. The unbeaten Rams still remember that 28-7 beating they took last December in Milwaukee and the twice beaten Packers have not forgotten the one they lost in the Coliseum 27-24 on a blocked punt.

Baltimore, Dallas and New York, the other perfect record clubs in the NFL, are favored to march right along to a fifth straight win. Oakland, only unbeaten team in the AFL, is expected to make it five in a row. Last week's record was 9-4, with 7-1 in the NFL and 2-3 in the AFL, or 28-11 for the year. Let's try again with all games Sunday unless otherwise indicated:

NFL

Los Angeles 24, Green Bay 21—Rams rolling in high gear with airtight defense while Packers at 2-2 have been giving up more points than usual. Toughest game of the day, perhaps toughest of season.

Baltimore 27, San Francisco 17—Earl Morrall doing excellent job as sub for John Unitalia with 10 TD passes in four wins. Colts have beaten 49ers 12 straight times and don't figure to stop now.

Detroit 21, Chicago 17—After Bill Ford lowered the boom on the Lions following last week's loss in Minnesota they should come out hungry for Bear meat. Bears have quarterback trouble but Gale Sayers will make it closer than last time.

Minnesota 28, New Orleans 17—A tricky one. These clubs haven't met in regular season play. Bill Brown leading league with eight touchdowns but Viking quarterbacks Joe Kapp and Gary Cuzzo a little beat up. King Hill picked up as last-minute sub. Saints' Bill Kilmer had three interceptions last week.

Dallas 34, Philadelphia 14—Cowboys did it in Philadelphia two weeks ago and should repeat, although Eagles will be tougher with Norm Snead at controls. Loss of Dan Reeves a blow to Dallas.

New York 37, Atlanta 14—Norm Van Brocklin's Falcons won't be able to handle Fran Tarkenton's explosive offense.

Washington 34, Pittsburgh 21—Steelers are going to beat somebody soon but not the Skins with Sonny Jurgensen at the controls.

Cleveland 24, St. Louis 21—Give edge to Browns on Bill Nelson over Jim Hart or Charlie Johnson.

AFL

Miami 21, Buffalo 14 (Saturday night)—Dolphins coming off upset of Oilers. Bills still having trouble with attack, bowing to Chiefs 18-7.

New York 31, Denver 14—Joe Namath and Co. back on beam last week after poor showing against Buffalo. Return of Steve Tensi helps Broncos, who edged Cincinnati last week.

Kansas City 24, Cincinnati 14—Chiefs have too much for expansion club.

Boston 21, Houston 20—Patriots home after 41-10 bombing by Oakland, could get well against Houston which floundered last week without Pete Beathard.

Oakland 31, San Diego 20—Raiders need one more win to tie the Chargers' 1960-61 record of 15 straight. Oakland averaging 40 points a game.

OSU And Purdue Clash Saturday

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ambitious Ohio State gets a crack at the nation's top-ranked football team Saturday when Purdue comes to town for a major Big Ten clash. A capacity crowd of 84,000 plus is expected to watch the battle with the winner taking a giant stride toward the Jan. 1 Rose Bowl.

Purdue, with All-American Leroy Keyes leading the attack, rates a 13-point favorite over the sophomore-laden Buckeyes. But Coach Woody Hayes' fourth-ranked Bucks have visions of an upset and are anxious to atone for last year's 41-6 loss to the Boilermakers, the worst pasting in Hayes' 18-year regime.

Both clubs are unbeaten. Purdue has rolled over Virginia, Notre Dame, and Northwestern while Ohio has topped Southern Methodist and Oregon. The weather bureau forecasts a clear day with a temperature near 70 for the much-publicized contest.

Hayes reportedly started preparing for Purdue soon after he suffered that 41-6 humiliation. Most of his hopes are pinned on Rex Kern, Ohio's sensational sophomore quarterback who has missed contact work this week because of a face injury. Kern, and all other Bucks nursing injuries, will play.

Kern, the most exciting player the Buckeyes have had since Howard (Hop) Cassidy performed here in the mid-50s, is a dangerous roll-out runner and adept passer. He has carried 26 times for 94 yards and has completed 19 of 33 passes for 252 yards and two touchdowns. Fullback Jim Otis tops Buckeye rushers with 165 yards in 35 trips while halfback Dave Brungard shows 137 yards in 32 tries.

The Bucks' defensive unit, which has been impressive, will have to be at its best to stop the versatile Keyes, a solid candidate for the Heisman Award.

Used mainly as a flanker and halfback, and on defense when needed, Keyes has galloped 244 yards in 44 rushes for six touchdowns; has caught 15 passes for 173 yards and has thrown five times completing three for 68 yards and two TDs.

If Ohio double teams Keyes, it may have trouble containing junior quarterback Mike Phipps, who has completed 40 of 64 passes for 493 yards and one score.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf also counts on fullback Perry Williams, who has 133 yards in 36 carries, and a rugged defensive line, anchored by middle guard Chuck Kyle, a 225-pound senior. For weeks now, Hayes has labeled Purdue as the top team in the country and Keyes as the best football player anywhere. With eight soph in the lineup, he may be a year away from providing Ohio is better.

23 Games On Ohio College Grid Schedule For Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The national spotlight is on Ohio Stadium Saturday when Ohio State takes on No. 1 ranked Purdue in the top football game of the day.

There are other top attractions on the 23-game Ohio collegiate card. Winless Kent State (0-4) tries to break into the victory column at home against Western Michigan and Toledo entertains unbeaten Bowling Green in a Mid-American Conference night affair.

Miami, 3-1, rounds out MAC action by visiting hapless Marshall, seeking its first triumph in two years.

MAC leader Ohio University journeys to William & Mary where the Bobcats will be bidding to atone for a 25-22 loss to the Indians last year.

Toledo stakes its high-scoring machine against Bowling Green and its stingy defense. The Rockets need a victory to keep their league title hopes alive.

Defense-minded Miami, which held Kent to a total of 79 yards last week, shouldn't have much trouble disposing of Marshall under the lights unless the Skins are looking ahead to next week's major skirmish with Ohio U.

Cincinnati, which suffered a 71-33 humiliation to Houston last

A couple of key Ohio Conference battles send Wooster to Ohio Wesleyan and Muskingum to Wittenberg.

The others: Baldwin-Wallace at Oberlin; Capital at Heidelberg; Denison at Mount Union; Marietta at Hiram; Defiance at Wilmington (N); Bluffton at Findlay (N); Kenyon at Lake Forest; central State at Northwood Institute; Pensacola Navy at Youngstown; Case at Thiel; John Carroll at Allegheny; Washington & Jefferson at Adelbert; Ohio Northern at Otterbein (N); Waynesburg at Ashland (N) and Akron at Bradley (N).

Bengals To Lose Services Of 2

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League will lose the services of kicking specialist Dale Livingston and end Warren McVea near the end of the season.

Both players joined the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Thursday and are scheduled to begin at least six months' active duty starting in December.

Livingston will miss the last two games, against Boston and New York. McVea will miss only the New York game.

Dave Dickey of Arkansas scored 144 points in the last two football seasons. He made 10 more points than Roland Moss of Toledo and 12 more than Leroy Keyes of Purdue during the same period.

Controversies

Rule Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Controversies, ranging from shoes to South Africa and from politics to professionals, continued to plague the troubled 19th Olympic Games on the eve of the opening ceremonies.

The Supreme Council for Sports in Africa demanded that South Africa be barred from competition in all sports throughout the world and Avery Brundage, 81-year-old Chicago millionaire who has ruled the International Olympic Committee with an iron hand for 16 years, won re-election as president of the group.

Bobby Hull To Retire, He Claims

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Hockey League has been shaken—from President Clarence Campbell and its hierarchy, to club owners, and to fandom—by Bobby Hull's announced retirement.

The Golden Jet played 11 seasons with the Chicago Black Hawks, scoring 414 goals. Six times he topped the NHL in goals scored and three times he scored 50 or more in a single season.

Absence of the 29-year-old superstar would be felt not only to the roots of the Black Hawks' organization but also could be reflected at the gate throughout the expanded circuit.

All this could be a wedge by Hull in a salary rift. He planned this announcement Thursday as a jolt to the hockey empire, on the eve of the opening of the NHL season with three games tonight.

Chicago is at home to St. Louis, Detroit at Boston and Campbell pointed out, however, voluntary retirement papers which would keep him out of the game at least a full year from date of signing.

If Ohio double teams Keyes, it may have trouble containing junior quarterback Mike Phipps, who has completed 40 of 64 passes for 493 yards and one score.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf also counts on fullback Perry Williams, who has 133 yards in 36 carries, and a rugged defensive line, anchored by middle guard Chuck Kyle, a 225-pound senior.

For weeks now, Hayes has labeled Purdue as the top team in the country and Keyes as the best football player anywhere. With eight soph in the lineup, he may be a year away from providing Ohio is better.

23 Games On Ohio College Grid Schedule For Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The national spotlight is on Ohio Stadium Saturday when Ohio State takes on No. 1 ranked Purdue in the top football game of the day.

There are other top attractions on the 23-game Ohio collegiate card. Winless Kent State (0-4) tries to break into the victory column at home against Western Michigan and Toledo entertains unbeaten Bowling Green in a Mid-American Conference night affair.

Miami, 3-1, rounds out MAC action by visiting hapless Marshall, seeking its first triumph in two years.

MAC leader Ohio University journeys to William & Mary where the Bobcats will be bidding to atone for a 25-22 loss to the Indians last year.

Toledo stakes its high-scoring machine against Bowling Green and its stingy defense. The Rockets need a victory to keep their league title hopes alive.

Defense-minded Miami, which held Kent to a total of 79 yards last week, shouldn't have much trouble disposing of Marshall under the lights unless the Skins are looking ahead to next week's major skirmish with Ohio U.

Cincinnati, which suffered a 71-33 humiliation to Houston last Friday, is at home to Tampa in a night game.

A couple of key Ohio Conference battles send Wooster to Ohio Wesleyan and Muskingum to Wittenberg.

Baldwin-Wallace at Oberlin; Capital at Heidelberg; Denison at Mount Union; Marietta at Hiram; Defiance at Wilmington (N); Bluffton at Findlay (N); Kenyon at Lake Forest; central State at Northwood Institute; Pensacola Navy at Youngstown; Case at Thiel; John Carroll at Allegheny; Washington & Jefferson at Adelphi; Ohio Northern at Otterbein (N); Waynesburg at Ashland (N) and Akron at Bradley (N).

Controversies Rule Olympics

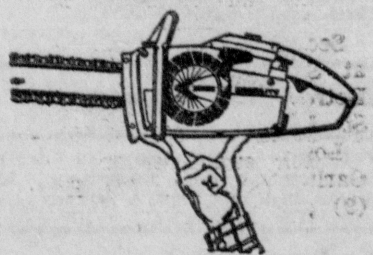

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Controversies, ranging from shoes to South Africa and from politics to professionals, continued to plague the troubled 19th Olympic Games on the eve of the opening ceremonies.

The Supreme Council for Sports in Africa demanded that South Africa be barred from competition in all sports throughout the world and Avery Brundage, 81-year-old Chicago millionaire who has ruled the International Olympic Committee with an iron hand for 16 years, won re-election as president of the group.

Cincinnati Royals
Defeat 76ers
HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals, playing without starters Jerry Lucas and Adrian Smith, defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 112-105, in a National Basketball Association exhibition game Thursday night.

If you haven't driven a Ford lately, you're one of the reasons we built this one!

The '69 Ford is the car that's creating all the talk. You ought to know the reasons.

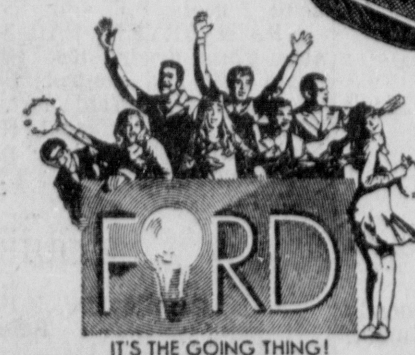

The '69 Ford hugs the road with a track as wide as Cadillac... smooths your ride with a longer wheelbase than Chevrolet. This '69 LTD is designed to ride quieter than the LTD that was quieter than Rolls-Royce. It has more front headroom, legroom and trunk space than cars costing hundreds of dollars more. Even with a longer wheelbase, it's easier to handle, easier to park.

This is a new luxury-size Ford at a very popular price. Big. Strong. Quiet. A great road car. Drive one at your Ford Dealer's now.
